HALIFAX (CP) — Robert Stanfield plans to make his debut in Ottawa next week as national leader of the Progressive Conservative party.

He said Wednesday he will fly to the capital early next week and hopes to meet with Prime Minister Pearson.

"I hope to be able to discuss with the prime minister a possible date for a by-election," Mr. Stanfield said.

Mr. Stanfield has accepted an offer by Cyril Kennedy, PC member of Parliament for Colchester-Hants, to resign so he can contest the riding.

George Isaac Smith, 58, Mr. Stanfield's close friend and political ally, was sworn in Wednesday as Nova Scotia's 17th premier since Confederation. (See also page 5.)

Mr. Stanfield handed in his letter of resignation as premier Tuesday. This and the formal letter of acceptance were officially read by Lieutenant-Governor H. P. MacKeen before the investiture ceremony.

ment going and not to make changes.

He said he has no intention of suggesting there should be a provincial election because Mr. Stanfield had resigned.

Stanfield Woes Roblin

HALIFAX (CP) — Robert Stanfield telephoned Manitoba Premier Duff Roblin Wednesday and urged him to enter federal politics.

"We are going to meet in the near future to discuss the matter further," the former Nova Scotia premier said.

Talks Revived

OTTAWA (CP) — Negotiations in the four-week-old Great Lakes shipping strike resumed late Wednesday afternoon after union and management teams spent an hour in talks with Labor Minister Nicholson.

Fatal Fad

Student Sniffs Chill of Death

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP) — A bizarre experiment, apparently used by high schoolers to "get high," has taken the life of a Medford youth.

An autopsy disclosed Wednesday that Paul McCuan, 18, died after breathing the fumes from a cocktail glass chiller.

The teenager was found dead Tuesday night in the living room of his home — a plastic bag pressed to his face and blood streaming from his mouth and nose.

Dr. A. Erni Merkel, the

Jackson County medical examiner, said the device, sold under a variety of brand names, releases a cold jet of carbon dioxide which puts a frosty coating on the drinking glass. Some use nitrous oxide, he said.

McCuan had used an empty thread spool to trigger the chiller and a plastic sack to collect the fumes.

"Store managers tell me the kids are buying these things up like mad," Dr. Merkel said.

Life Insurance Firms Pledge Slum Aid

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — The U.S. life insurance industry announced Wednesday it would invest $1,000,000,000 to improve housing and create jobs in Negro ghettos and other slum areas in American cities.

Under the plan, loans will be made through programs in which the federal housing administration insures mortgages in "high-risk (riot-hit) areas" and at relatively low interest rates.

TV Crew Trapped in Anti-Pirate Ploy

If You Wish for Song of Sea...

LONDON (CP) — A salty drama dressed up with touches of Gilbert and Sullivan, freedom of the press, bureaucracy and the Flying Dutchman was being played in the English Channel Wednesday to the delight of much of Britain.

It hinged about the efforts of a valiant crew from Granada Television to board the pirate radio ship Caroline

South in the face of such hardships as the Maritime Broadcasting Offences Act, seasickness and even alcoholic drought.

The good ship Caroline, off Harwich, is a defiant holdout against the legislation banning unauthorized pop-playing stations and making it an offence to give aid or comfort to their crews. For 24 hours the Granada brigade bobbed around with a view to recording songs on the ship.

When it reached the vessel Tuesday aboard a chartered tug, it got a radio-telephone call from land advising that it could be arrested and the tug impounded if it went aboard.

While Granada's lawyers thumbed the fine print of the law, the crew headed back to Felixstowe in the stock tug Ross Dainty, only to be told it could not put in. The harbor staff had heard of the object of the expedition and feared it might be in trouble for giving haven to a vessel that might have been in touch with Caroline.

The Ross Dainty anchored outside, temporarily a boat without a port. However, that plight was abated somewhat Wednesday when the port manager agreed she could come in.

But late Wednesday, the Ross Dainty was back at the side of the pirate vessel, although her crew were still awaiting word from the lawyers on whether they could go aboard without risking arrest.

The Granada crew was keeping a stiff upper lip. Producer Mike Hodges reported by radio:

"It's blowing up a bit rough here. Mel Davies, who was seasick last night, has recovered. We're out of hard drink — only tea and coffee left — but I expect we can manage for another 24 hours if necessary."

Marchand Tells Grit 'Thinkers'

Time to Find Out Who's for Canada

QUEBEC (CP) — Manpower Minister Jean Marchand said Wednesday night it is "high time" to find out "who rejects Canada and who accepts it."

"We cannot teeter indefinitely between consent and refusal," he told Quebec members of the federal Liberal party. "For our part, the choice is made and we are resolved to play on the Canadian team."

Mr. Marchand, addressing the opening session of a Liberal "thinkers' conference" in nearby Montmorency, said the first century of Confederation has included "a great number of injustices" toward French-speaking Canadians, "from the hanging of Louis Riel to the English-speaking domination of the federal civil service."

Marchand

"But," he said, "it is playing an extremely dangerous game to use more or less distant historical events as a basis for proposing more or less radical transformations which have nothing to do with the welfare of citizens and could even compromise it."

The "injustices of yesterday" were being replaced by policies favorable to French-Canadians.

Among the encouraging signs were the decision of Ontario to include French-language secondary schools in its education system; the promise of the federal government to extend French-language radio and television networks across the country; and the statement by Justice Minister Trudeau that it would be desirable to have the right to speak French anywhere in Canada guaranteed by the constitution.

BETTER IN CANADA

Mr. Marchand said Quebec's future is better assured within Canada than it would be by a secessionist adventure, and called for an end to the struggle between the federal and Quebec governments.

"The idea of a struggle between federal and provincial members makes no sense in a federal state, because each level of government works in a fundamentally different jurisdiction."

It was inevitable that there would be clashes, misunderstandings and differences of opinion between the two levels of government, but these should not be aggravated or exploited for partisan purposes.

CITIZENS PAY

If this happened, "either the cohesion of Canada will be shattered or the governments will be overcome by paralysis, and in either case the ordinary citizens will pay for the damages."

Turning to the question of a particular status for Quebec within Confederation, the minister said the term must be defined before it can be discussed.

"It cannot be said that the idea of a particular status is unacceptable... but the debate for and against particular status, couched in vague and general terms, leads nowhere."

The conference continues until Sunday, with study sessions closed to press and public.

For Quebec

Education Aid From France Will Balloon

QUEBEC (CP) — Education Minister Alain Peyrefitte of France announced Wednesday night that France will multiply its aid to Quebec by 10 times in three years.

Mr. Peyrefitte told a press conference France would multiply by 10 the 1967 amount of French aid given under the France-Quebec education and cultural agreements signed in 1965.

He gave a few examples of areas in which France is going to increase its aid, but said he would have to give between 20 and 25 examples to exhaust the exchanges envisaged.

TEACHER RESERVOIR

Mr. Peyrefitte said the number of scholarships France provides for Quebec students — about 50 this year — will be increased to 1,000 within three years.

France was thinking of creating what he called a reservoir of teachers available to Quebec according to the province's needs.

He also said two France-Quebec

New Job For Hellyer

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Paul Hellyer is expected to take over the transport portfolio next week, informed sources said Wednesday. Mr. Hellyer and his aides declined comment.

Transport Minister Fickens, 62, is resigning from the cabinet to become chief of the new transportation commission.

Informants said Associate Defence Minister Leo Cadieux, 59, may take over the defence portfolio.

In Himalayan Skirmish

Air Raids Threatened

GANGTOK, Sikkim (UPI) — Heavy artillery and mortar duelling erupted anew between Indian and Chinese troops in a Himalayan mountain pass and a Chinese radio broadcast Wednesday night threatened the use of air power in the border battle.

"None of you will survive an air attack by us," the Chinese warning said.

A blackout was immediately ordered in Gangtok, the Sikkim capital only 15 miles from the 14,300-foot high battle zone. Casualties mounted on both sides as the fighting entered its fourth day after a brief cessation Tuesday.

Another Peking report this morning accused Indian troops of "continuous" shelling of Chinese frontier installations beginning at 4 a.m. Wednesday.

CIVILIANS OUT

Sikkim king Chogyal Palden Thondup Namgyal ordered all civilians in and around Nathula Pass to evacuate the area. His wife, former New York debutante Hope Cooke, stayed in New Delhi.

Before the new shooting Wednesday more than 130 persons, including civilians, were reported killed or wounded in the long-range artillery and mortar duels.

BORDER SKIRMISH

The king said the nature of the fighting was purely a border skirmish.

"There is up to now nothing to suggest that either side wants it to develop into a major offensive," he told UPI.

Informants in New Delhi expressed the belief that Peking was not planning to launch a major offensive and risk being branded an aggressor by attacking a small, sleepy country such as Sikkim.

INDIAN SPEAKS

At New Delhi, Indian Defence Minister Swaran Singh said his nation wanted to restore peace to the area. The propaganda organs of Chinese Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung gave little sign of peace to come.

"The serious armed provocation launched by the Indian reactionaries is a military adventure long planned by them," said the Peking party newspaper Peoples Daily.

Chinese Grab Mission

HONG KONG (UPI) — China Wednesday confiscated the British diplomatic mission building in Shanghai, charging it had been used as a "base for aggression" against China for more than 100 years.

(A British foreign office spokesman in London said Britain was protesting the takeover of the premises and reserved Britain's right to the property and compensation.)

FIVE JAILED

The Shanghai Radio announcement came as Hong Kong authorities sentenced five Communist reporters, including one from Peking's official New China news agency, to jail terms. The jail terms were meted out in defiance of a Chinese demand the newsmen be released.

The sentencing last month of a group of Communist editors, publishers and printers in face of similar China threats led to the sacking of the British consulate in Peking.

Shanghai Radio broadcast the confiscation of the British mission building and said a large crowd of "revolutionaries" sang the Chinese national anthem as the five-star Chinese flag was raised over the British building.

It said the building, located in

Joint Department Gives All to Fire

ALLEN BONG: Last week Esquimalt had a major industrial fire at Yarrow's shipyard, with one life lost and damage estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. What did the municipal fire department send to answer the alarm? All it had: one detective in plainclothes, driving a fire truck. He was joined at the scene by two uniformed policemen in a patrol car.

Dockyard firemen, as so often in the past, saved the day.

What could Detective Frank Mitchell have done, single-handed, at such a fire? He must have been wondering that himself as he reached that blazing barge.

The plan in Esquimalt now is to have one man on duty at all times to service fire calls.

After a number of experts have recommended a split in the fire-police duties, the council still insists on the dual role.

The taxpayer electors in Esquimalt may want to have some questions answered. Here are a few:

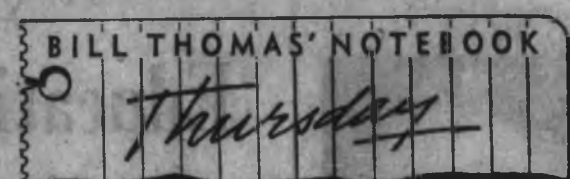

Who will inspect the school fire exits and conduct fire drills in the school? When were these inspections and drills last carried out in the schools?

When will the lone fireman have time to issue fire permits, inspect industrial plants, commercial plants and furnace installations?

What happens when there is a fire? What might have happened if there had been two major fires last Thursday?

The men on the job are clearly convinced they are unable to give the people the service they need.

Last year the police department serviced 5,400 complaints that range from lost dogs to murder, so it would seem Esquimalt is a busy place.

As one policeman-fireman said: "Our staff don't even know their way around most of the industrial plants in our area."

Reeve Ray Bryant has given the people the real reason, and it's not efficiency, safety or any of that nonsense.

The reeve's own recent public words: "If we split our police and fire departments, it would be political suicide."

AT THE POST: There is a possibility that Saanich will not see Digby Keir's name on the ballot this time. By the time the December civic election comes around, he may have moved out of the area.

BEEP BEEP: Perhaps somebody at B.C. Telephone can explain how the radio stations get around the regulations governing the recording of telephone conversations.

Page 6 of the current telephone directory says, "Use of a recorder without recorder-connector equipment containing a tone-warning device is contrary to the company's tariffs and not permitted."

Open-line shows and news items are heard daily without as much as a beep.

Recordings are made both of

Bomb Found At Embassy

HONG KONG (UPI) — A bomb was found on a window ledge of the U.S. consulate building in central Hong Kong late Wednesday night, government sources said. British demolition experts demolished it without incident.

China's largest city, was seized to "satisfy" the demands of the public.

The building was used by the British consul in Shanghai until the consulate there was closed earlier this summer and the consul, Peter Hewitt, expelled from China after being mistreated by Red Guards.

'GREAT FEAT'

Shanghai Radio called the take-over "a great triumph for the Chinese people" and said the recovery of the building, British property since 1851, "demonstrates the strength and prosperity of our great motherland."

China forced Britain to close the Shanghai mission May 24 citing "events in Hong Kong," where British authorities have been carrying out a tough crackdown on leftist agitators.

China to Build African Railway

HONG KONG (Reuters) — China has signed an agreement with Zambia and Tanzania concerning the construction of a 1,000-mile rail link between the two African countries. China has offered to construct and finance the railway to the extent of $300,000,000.

'Spy for U.S.' Sent to Prison In China's Anti-Mao Trials

HONG KONG (UPI) — China's official news agency said today one of six anti-Maoists convicted in Peking was a spy for the United States who obtained information on the "Great Cultural Revolution" and Chinese military areas.

A dispatch from the New China News Agency monitored here identified the convict as Tang Hsien-Chung, a 28-year-old overseas Chinese from Indonesia who was sentenced to life in prison for espionage.

TOOK PHOTOGRAPHS

The Peking news agency said Tang joined the U.S. Information Service in Hong Kong in 1966 and travelled to the mainland in February, 1967, "to gather intelligence about the Great Cultural Revolution on a large scale and to take photographs of important military areas in China."

Moscow radio said Wednesday that more than half the members of the central committee of the Chinese Communist Party had been either stripped of their membership or purged outright as a result of the political infighting.

Imperialism By China Stronger

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk told a crowd Wednesday he is recalling his envoys from Peking "to avoid incidents if there is a demonstration against our embassy."

He stressed that he is not breaking diplomatic relations with Communist China but said: "The Chinese practice an imperialism stronger than that of the Americans."

The Moscow report came as a number of Hong Kong newspapers reported a new and bloody uprising by anti-Mao forces had erupted in Canton. Heavy casualties were reported.

Quoting arrivals, the papers said thousands of opponents and supporters of Communist Party Chairman Mao waged pitched battles around a Mao headquarters before the clashes were finally stopped by more than 10,000 army troops.

VICTORY MEETING

In the reports of renewed fighting in Canton, the arrivals said the clashes broke out Monday when anti-Maoists staged sudden attacks against Maoist Red Guards holding a victory meeting.

They said the fighting erupted in the northern part of the city and that an estimated 300,000 to 400,000 persons were involved.

Crack Length on Fingernail Due to Injury at the Base

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: My right thumb nail continues to crack down the middle. I have been trying to give the nail a rest for eight months ago, and now it is becoming painful. Have you a remedy? — A.E.

No sir, no definite remedy. These lengthwise fissures or cracks are usually due to an injury at the nail base or below the cuticle.

Once the split has started, it continues as the nail grows. Occasionally a colloidion (celluloid-like) material is used to fill the crack and prevent movement in your case, the pain could be from infection.

While there is no home remedy, there is good prospect that a dermatologist can help you — and if infection is starting, that should be treated promptly.

Your Good Health

Dear Doctor: The nails of my big toes have turned white about half way down and have some loose from the beds. What causes this? They don't exactly hurt but seem a little sore or irritated at times. Is there anything I can do? — MRS. B.W.

The whiteness could be due to the separation. Whiteness also can result from a faulty development of the keratin (hard part of the material which makes up the nail substance. Usually, though, that occurs in fingernails rather than toenails.

Some conditions should send folks to the doctor immediately, and day by day I try to call attention to such matters. This nail problem, however, is one of the things which does not demand such urgency.

I would, however, make it a point to show these nails to the doctor on your next visit. He may well detect something that I cannot deduce from your letter, and be able to help the condition or tell you not to worry about it.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is "quinine"? — MRS. D.W.

It is a derivative of cinchona bark, from which quinine also is obtained. Quinine is used primarily for regulating certain disorders of heart rhythm.

bec teaching centres would be established, one at Quebec and one at Paris.

Other projects envisaged included the establishment of a Franco-Quebec bank of educational films and the formation of teams of researchers at universities in the two countries to conduct research in specialized areas such as forestry.

MEETS JOHNSON

Mr. Peyrefitte made the announcement after discussions earlier in the day with Premier Daniel Johnson at Montreal. He told the press conference that he was giving only a few examples of the new projects "to show you the spirit in which we have worked—a spirit concrete, realistic and based on immediate achievement."

He said it is "evident that the co-operation is directed against no one, nor is it intended to embarrass anyone."

Asked whether France would be willing to give assistance to other provinces, the French minister began his reply by saying that he did not like the word "assistance" in the context of Franco-Quebec relations.

He said relations between France and Quebec are based on equality, on giving and taking by both sides.

HOW MUCH?

Pressed to disclose what France spends now under the two 1965 agreements, the minister said he did not have figures, at his fingertips. When reporters started suggesting figures, he said the amount is closer to 5,000,000 francs ($1,000,000) than to 10,000,000 francs ($2,000,000).

Anti-Pollution Lead Task for Ottawa

KELOWNA (CP) — The federal government should take the lead in pollution control, Jack Davis, Liberal MP for Coast Capilano, said Tuesday.

"The federal government must take the lead in four areas," he said in an interview, "setting standards, setting up broad guidelines, beginning intensive research into particular situations and help finance the cleanup."

He said he was not inferring his statement is federal policy.

Mr. Davis said the financial assistance could take the form of tax concessions to industry or loans to municipalities.

He advocated a joint federal-provincial research program that probes causes and seeks solutions to pollution problems.

A Leader's Choice

THE WILLINGNESS of Mr. Michael Starr to quit the highly responsible Conservative Party House leadership in favor, as he says, of someone "closer" to Mr. Robert Stanfield, is a sign of generosity and goodwill towards the newly-elected Tory chief.

But it would be a pity if Mr. Stanfield were to accept the offer.

In the first place, a man of Mr. Starr's experience in the Commons would be invaluable to the party leader; and Mr. Stanfield undoubtedly recognizes this self-evident truth. Moreover, it is most desirable that Mr. Stanfield should have strong lieutenants in the House, representative of every part of the country and, particularly, of the several large and influential ethnic groups. Mr. Starr is politically well entrenched in Ontario and, besides, is a Ukrainian.

It was the incompatibility of members which disrupted the Diefenbaker cabinet and, as many believe, hastened the defeat of his government. There can be small doubt that the alienation of a considerable part of the Conservative support in Quebec was due to the clash between Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Leon Balcer, four times the Conservative member for Three Rivers and the former prime minister's chief lieutenant in Quebec. Significantly, that seat is now occupied by an Independent Liberal.

If the Conservative party hopes to regain power in the near future, or even to provide effective opposition, it must guard against such internal discords that have hobbled and humbled it in the past.

Mr. Stanfield appears to recognize this need. "Any success I have will depend on the amount of support I have, and it's my job to generate support and not believe I can do the whole thing myself," he told the welcoming crowd in Halifax on his return from his victory at the national leadership convention in Toronto.

His appreciation of this simple fact encourages his supporters in the belief that this quiet man will achieve the essential cohesion long and noticeably lacking in the ranks.

But to cement the road to power, there must be a careful appraisal of policy directed to the needs of the nation. High on the list of priorities is the examination of the differences which appear to endanger the national unity. Obviously Mr. Stanfield must seek a formula for what is called co-existence on the international level.

To accomplish this he must have advice, co-operation and consent from every quarter of the country, from every sector of the society, business, education, labor and industry, and from every ethnic section. If he brings to his office the strength and leadership he promises on such terms, a united people will march with him.

Changing View?

PRIME MINISTER HAROLD WILSON, whose handling of the tricky Rhodesian affair has been fair and statesmanlike to date, seems suddenly to have lost his grip on the situation.

The realistic but reasonable attitude he has adopted toward the illegal Smith regime has earned him plaudits even among his most vociferous political opponents as has his firm determination to reject any suggestion of violence or armed intervention as a solution to the problem.

It is on this latter point that Mr. Wilson now appears to be wavering if the words of his Minister of State for Commonwealth Affairs, Mr. George Thomas, can be taken at face value.

Questioned on the British government's view of the increasing terrorist activities in Rhodesia, Mr. Brown had this to say: "If the ordinary avenues of expressing political discontent are closed to black Africans—as they are—eventually they will find other ways of expressing their resentment."

Such a statement not only obviously condones and encourages such activities but at the same time deliberately ignores the established fact that the terrorists are being trained, armed and smuggled into Rhodesia by the black African Commonwealth Republic of Zambia.

Further doubts as to the direction in which Mr. Wilson's government is now pointing may also be raised by the fact that though he was quick to protest the sending of South African police to assist the Rhodesian security forces in their battle against the guerrillas as an invasion of British sovereignty he has yet to publicly rebuke Zambia for her part in the unhappy matter.

Sad Mistake

IT HAS COME with no little dismay to City Hall, and to the local sports realm, to learn that Royal Athletic Park, pridefully re-opened in new and handsome guise only a short three months ago, may have to be closed once the rains come until next spring.

"It's simply shocking," says the mayor, a sentiment echoed by the gridiron and soccer clubs which have their seasonal programs laid out for the calendar Avenue ground. The former may get by before winter sets in, but the latter, whose playing period runs through the wet months of the year, will face a predicament if as it looks the turf has to be torn up.

Make haste slowly is a maxim that can be applied elsewhere than only to marriage, and apparently the blame can be cast on the rush to make the park available for this summer's sports schedules. This meant that instead of seeding the ground bought turf was laid, and it hasn't stood up as expected.

It is easy to be wise after the event, but there was a warning in the experience of Vancouver's Empire Stadium, which also laid clay-based turf and had to replace it at considerable expense. The mistake was in not giving this aspect priority of consideration.

Unfortunately the chosen course hasn't held any more water than the playing surface at Royal Athletic, already deteriorating and which will be water-logged once the fall and winter get under way.

And to rectify the situation a cool $22,000 will have been wasted.

There is a chance apparently that the turf may even yet be playable, but only temporarily, and it seems obvious the surface will have to be re-done by the slower but more enduring method of seeding the grass.

Meanwhile, should the worse come to the worst, there will be an obligation to transfer the soccer dates to Macdonald Park; otherwise the local champions of the Pacific Coast Soccer League will be in a sad fix.

"That's it, Bob—now all we have to do is win an election!"

Inside China ...

... A Modern Marco Polo

A Fierce and Dangerous Fanaticism

I WAS told of how last April the mayor of Peking was arraigned ideologically. With eight colleagues he was made to stand on a platform at Peking University, with large placards bearing their names hung from their necks. Official spokesmen recited their ideological crimes and denounced them. Huge crowds screamed abuse.

Humiliation rather than the bloodbath is the key. If the director of a factory, we are told, is found to be a "reactionary," he is exposed, made publicly to face his crimes, and is then submitted to a period of re-education in humiliation. The chances are that he will be demoted to sweeping the factory floor. We were told that even the head of the Shanghai docks had been so "rectified," his fate was to work as a docker until further notice.

Those Chinese known to have had a Western education are naturally particularly suspect, and this is what brings me to my fourth impression: the ideological cleavage inside the country.

It is very hard to arrive at figures, even for purposes of illustration, but from what I have been told by friends and critics of the regime my guess is that about 70 per cent of the people of China are intensely pro-Mao, the bulk of them, for want of a better word, "working-class." In an emotionally enthusiastic way, they see Mao as the champion of the proletariat.

Among the other 30 per cent, in which one would find the bulk of the teachers, businessmen, the intelligentsia generally, are the elements suspected by the rest of being revisionists, reformists, reactionaries, ready in some degree or other to divert China from the high road to complete internal and then world revolution; and against whom, therefore, the Cultural Revolution is directed.

Time and again one would find oneself in verbal debate at varying levels of intelligence in which the other person would say something like: "You see, we must follow the teaching of our great leader, Chairman Mao, and enter the revolution, and carry on socialist reconstruction. We must not change our color."

The ideological cleavage is one impression; my impression of the class struggle which is going on is associated with it. As I say, those who adore Mao are on the whole the simple and the poor; the Cultural Revolution is aimed at what is roughly speaking their bourgeoisie.

The class war does not seem to be a Communist Party dialectical device. The Communist Party numbers only about 18 million of a population of about 750 million.

The Red Guards, when they became the vanguard of the Cultural Revolution, seemed to supersede the Communist Party as such. It is the evidence of the Cultural Revolution, not of the Communist Party, which meets the eyes on all sides of China today.

The Red Guards, and the millions behind them, do not altogether trust the Communist Party to carry on the class struggle and burn the bridges that might lead back to the past.

In their determination to rival Marxism on China, to resist being fobbed off with a watered-down Socialism "à la Russe," to make sure that the soler of China's politics shall be forever red, the main target, it seemed, are, at an historical moment when you might have expected them to look only into themselves. One way of putting it is to say that it seemed to me, listening to what they say, that the Peasants' Revolt, the Agrarian Revolution, the Industrial Revolution, the French Revolution and the Russian Revolution are all going on at the same time. After all, the Chinese have access to the lessons of these great events, and are certainly in the mood to apply them simultaneously, and not wait for decades of deaths and disappointments before they reach the end of their projected road. They will do this in a typically Chinese fashion.

Chinese people tell you that Mao is the "reddest," he becomes redder and redder in conversation as you approach Peking; a thousand miles away he is the "reddest"; at 500 miles he is the "reddest," under the walls of the city he is the "reddest, reddest, reddest."

Mao is on a pedestal. It is not the Communist Party, or he himself, who has put him there. It is the people. He is the father-figure. He is a new element in the life of the Chinese mind. The putting of a person at the very centre of Chinese belief for the first time may be as potentially dynamic—indeed explosive—as the discovery of nuclear fission in the world outside. The Chinese have possessed themselves of a new weapon.

And this brings me to my last and abiding impression, and that is of how enormously outward-looking the Chinese are. I have spoken of the happy, healthy people. More and more I caught glimpses of it. One night in an hotel I walked into a room which I suddenly discovered was a billiards room. Judging by the state of the covers over the table the room had not been used since the first revolution of 1949. A man entered—he must have been one of the porters, but obviously one used to authority, and with a certain superiority in his manner. He studied me a moment or two. Then, making up his mind, he took the covers off the table. The cloth was a magnificent pristine green. He laid out a set of snooker balls. He stood and watched me. Without a word he joined in the game. I do not know what nostalgic thoughts and ideological impurities went through his mind. But that game of snooker haunted me.

I remember fooling around on a bicycle to have my photograph taken. A Chinese man, a Communist, I posed near a woman who was busily sharpening a pair of shears. I soon realized that she understood English, and was listening to our talk, but she did not look up, nor did she stop working. Finally, when a number of Chinese were swarming round us and it was clear we were going to move off, she said in English, in an undertone: "It is very nice to see you. Please come back." I immediately assumed that she might be being "rectified," and, therefore, to talk to her might have led to trouble.

Finally, I remember the night in the hotel, walking down from the fourth floor to the third, and seeing a middle-aged man, respectable, staid, business-looking, being forced to a room by two youths in their early twenties. There was no noise and no fuss; his hands were held tightly behind his back, and he was bent forward in a quite helpless position. There had been a public meeting in this hotel just before and it looked as if he was going to be cross-examined about what he had done at it.

To sum it up, one cannot be in China today without being impressed by this happy, healthy, healthy mass of millions of Chinese who, as so often people in the West today, I would guess, believe they know where they are going and are ecstatic about the prospect.

The impression of youthfulness is indescribable—all Chinese tend to look young, and more than 40 per cent of the population is under 18 anyway. Borne forward on the wings of belief in Mao and in their perpetual morning light they convey a feeling of strength and hope which one cannot but admire.

As I have said, they were personally exceptionally friendly to us; neither individually nor as a delegation were we made to feel anything but welcome and appreciated. No visitor to China, I honestly believe, should feel apprehensive, if he is careful to behave "correctly," and there as a member of a party sponsored by the Chinese government.

But the price is being paid behind his back and the woman sharpening her shears. This very blindness and blurring of the Chinese people as a whole, and most disturbing of all, this laudable conviction that those who do not see things exactly as they do are at best benighted, at worst deliberately hostile, and in either case constitute a cardinal danger to their own security.

It is impossible to foresee what will happen in China in the next few months.

There are four independent nations, in order of seniority, Guyana, Trinidad and Tobago, Jamaica and Barbados. There are five islands (Grenada, St. Lucia, Dominica, Antigua and St. Kitts-Nevis) which earlier this year became states "in association" with Britain, meaning that they are directly responsible for their own internal affairs but leave the handling of external affairs to London.

There are three colonies where the Union Jack still flies: St. Vincent, Montserrat and the

Liberation War

By ROBERT A. SCALAPINO

THE signals have been given for a new Vietnam in Asia. In a major and little-noticed address of last October, Kim Il-sung, the strong man of Communist North Korea, called for a step-by-step program to "liberate" the south. The speech, delivered Oct. 5, was presented to the 11-member central committee of the North Korean Workers (Communist) Party. The details of this program, spelled out with clarity, are so extraordinarily similar to the operations of the Vietnamese Communists since 1954 that they warrant careful attention.

North Korea, Kim asserted, has two basic tasks. One is to complete the "socialist" revolution in the North; the other is to serve as the main revolutionary base for the "liberation" of the South. The latter operation, maintained Kim, will require careful preparation.

First, it is essential to build "a militant, flexible Marxist-Leninist party in South Korea," and then to make certain that it assumes full control of all subsequent activities. (He did not need to add that such a party, organized from the North, would remain a part of, and integrated with his party, taking its orders from Pyongyang.)

Under Communist guidance, the second step, Kim stated, would be the creation of a united front of "workers, peasants and progressive intellectuals." All conceivable economic and political grievances should be exploited; both violent and non-violent tactics should be employed; and the struggle should take legal and illegal forms, with the objective being to undermine the legitimacy and the strength of the South Korean regime.

Kim made it clear that under present conditions, guerrilla warfare on any major scale would be premature. Indeed, he cited the case of Indonesia as an example of a Communist blunder: misjudging "objective conditions," the Indonesian Communists struck without being adequately prepared and consequently were annihilated. Guerrilla warfare must follow support-active or passive—rather, possibly lengthy preparations. But the North Korean Communist leader also indicated that the time for guerrilla warfare would come. These orders are almost identical to those fashioned in Hanoi between 1954 and 1960, and those developed by the Chinese Communists under somewhat different conditions even earlier. Will they succeed? In the first 10 months since Kim's orders were given, the results have been generally disappointing to the Korean Communists, but the contest has scarcely begun and it would be very premature to render a verdict at this point.

Carefully trained agents from the North are being infiltrated into the South at a rate some three times greater than prior to 1966. A number has been captured and killed. A larger number probably has eluded capture. The mission of these men has varied; most have been asked to contact friends, or possible sympathizers. (In this case, as in Vietnam, "regroupes"—that is, individuals originally from the South but now living and trained in the North—figure prominently.)

A few have been told to spot likely areas for guerrilla operations and conduct "survival experiments" in remote areas, so that when the time for armed conflict has come, the maps, the locations, and methods will have been prepared. Individuals with these instructions are supposed to return North with their information, having made no human contacts in the South in some cases.

As noted above, there is some evidence that the first stage of the new Communist assault upon South Korea is laudable. Indeed, rumor has it that Kim has dismissed the key northern figure in charge of southern operations in an effort to obtain better results.

Why has the new "liberation" effort run into difficulties? First, despite complaints of rigged assembly elections and a general insufficiency of democracy—complaints coming mainly from students and intellectuals—the Pak administration has probably acquired greater support—active or passive—than any government of postwar South Korea.

Economic Future Bright

Its record in the field of economic development is particularly impressive, and with this record has come a growth of hope and self-confidence at all levels of the society. Not all of the economic problems of South Korea have been solved by any means, but for the first time since 1945, its economic future looks brighter than that of the North.

Indeed, the much-publicized seven-year plan of the North Korean Communists is in serious trouble—as a result of sharply reduced Soviet aid (probably to be expanded soon), a lack of incentives, bureaucratic mismanagement and shanties of trained manpower. The Communists have been forced to announce that completion of the plan will be delayed at least three years. After a long period of significant economic growth—albeit growth purchased at great sacrifices to the individual citizen—North Korea is in economic trouble, at least for the time being.

There are also political problems in the North, although no doubt with the Communist Party in the South, through the creation of a national liberation front, to guerrilla warfare and victory will not be easy, Kim admits. But it will be followed, as he insists.

Almost without exception, they are old cronies of Kim Il-sung, men who fought against the Japanese under Kim in Manchuria in the 1930's, migrated with him to Siberia in 1940, and were trained by the Russians and returned with them to North Korea in 1945.

Those Korean Communists who served with the Chinese, as well as those who were long-term Russian residents (similar to American second-generation Koreans), and those who remained underground in Korea proper have been liquidated with very few exceptions. The men holding high posts in the northern regime today are not only old personal friends of Kim; they come from the same region, consider themselves military men, and have an exceedingly limited education—many of them having had only military training beyond elementary school.

It will not be easy for such individuals to appeal to the next generation of Koreans, South or North. And from every indication, factionalism, as well as a major generational gap, continues in North Korea despite a long series of purges, some of them very bloody. Within recent months, there is evidence of a new reshuffle involving some very prominent individuals.

There is no reason to believe, however, that the North Korean Communists will be deterred in their drive against the South.

Kim's aim is the reunification of Korea through any means necessary. His stated formula: to be sure, is almost identical to that of the Vietnamese Communists: the Korean people must be allowed to determine their future by themselves, without outside interference. The precise character of the unification can be worked out after the respective parties after the South has become a "democratic, peaceful and neutral state."

But this latter development can only be reached if the Communists are allowed to manage the final stage of the "bourgeois revolution." The path from the establishment of a branch of the Communist Party in the South, through the creation of a national liberation front, to guerrilla warfare and victory will not be easy, Kim admits. But it will be followed, as he insists.

Almost without exception, they are old cronies of Kim Il-sung, men who fought against the Japanese under Kim in Manchuria in the 1930's, migrated with him to Siberia in 1940, and were trained by the Russians and returned with them to North Korea in 1945.

'Death Ray' Neutron Bomb Has Peaceful Uses

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS From Sanat Monica, Calif.

Peaceful uses for a "death-ray" neutron bomb are proposed in a Rand Corp. paper based on research under way in the United States, the Soviet Union and Italy.

This paper, by nuclear physicist Samuel T. Cohen, says the little information released about this project indicates that power generated by neutrons could be several hundred times cheaper than that now produced by standard nuclear reactors.

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission in Washington also emphasized that the research is not designed to produce a new kind of nuclear weapon.

"The work is part of a world-wide effort in the field of controlled fusion thermonuclear research," the commission said. "The ultimate goal of the over-all program is the controlled release of fusion energy for peaceful purposes."

In an interview Monday, Dr. Cohen credited an Italian laboratory with the latest disclosures of progress in developing the neutron bomb — a "pre-fusion" device which has almost no blast or fallout but releases millions of deadly neutrons 10 times more powerful than those resulting from a hydrogen bomb. He said the work, under the direction of physicist J. G. Linhart, is going on at the Laboratori Nazionali de Frascati del Comitato Nazionale Nucleare, operating near Rome under contract to Euratom. Euratom is a nuclear research program financed by several European nations.

Cohen, who works at the U.S. government-financed Rand Corp., has included projects for the Atomic Energy Commission, said Linhart is trying to create small fusion explosions with little blast or radioactivity but lots of neutrons. These would be used to heat a fluid and drive a turbine to generate electricity.

Fusion explosions differ from fission explosions in that the nuclei of atoms are forced together, or fused, instead of being fissioned or split. Current fusion bombs are triggered by fission bombs, which are "dirty" — they have blast effects and radio activity. The pure fusion device would fuse nuclei using electrically-generated heat alone, and blast and radio-activity would be negligible. But the high heat needed — about 1,000,000 degrees — creates problems in finding a suitable container.

Cohen suggests a 500-ton pile of uranium to contain the heat of small explosions — explosions equal to 100 tons of TNT, as compared with 1,000,000-ton hydrogen blasts — and waterpipes to carry off the heat for generating electricity or desalting sea water. He envisages such small fusion explosions at a rate of one every few seconds.

Cohen says that such a system would be safer and more efficient than present reactors, and cheaper because of a peculiar trait of neutrons. They tend to multiply when surrounded by certain materials by ejecting twice as many neutrons from the nuclei of these materials.

It Could Have Enormous Significance

De Gaulle's Quiet Gambol in Poland

By JOHN BEST from Toronto

Compared with French President Charles de Gaulle's tempestuous visit to Canada this summer, his just-concluded trip to Communist Poland had the appearance of a quiet gambol.

But it could turn out to have enormous significance in terms of political relationships within the Soviet bloc.

It is probably safe to say that Moscow followed the general's one-week journey with keen attention touching on anxiety.

Gen. de Gaulle has immense personal appeal in Russia's mediaeval empire, where he is regarded as a statesman of genius with answers to a lot of the world's problems.

This appeal derives in part from a traditional Eastern European fascination with, and attraction to, things French — especially French culture.

It also owes a lot to President de Gaulle's own self-appointed role as a kind of arbiter between East and West, and his determination to make France more independent within the Atlantic alliance, unbound by tight military integration.

It is broadly the same freedom of movement that East European countries, Poland included, would like to achieve within the Kremlin-dominated Soviet bloc.

To a considerable degree they have succeeded in breaking away from the stiflingly strict control that Moscow used to exercise over them.

But, because of Russia's military and economic might, they are still subject to Moscow in many ways. Gaullist France stands as an example and an inspiration to them as they grope cautiously for greater national autonomy.

Gen. de Gaulle caused no sensations in his Polish tour comparable to his "Quebec libre" declaration that resulted in his premature departure from Canada early in August.

But he did manage to strike a few sensitive chords. He called on the Poles to "look a little further and see things in broader perspective than you have been obliged to in the past."

This looked like a thinly-veiled suggestion that Poland be less subservient to Russia. Another reference to Russia was the general's caution that Poland should avoid "absorption by any enormous foreign apparatus."

President de Gaulle is expected to follow up his visit to Poland with trips to other East European states. At least, a number are known to want a visit from the general.

If he performs as he did in Poland, his travels through the Eastern bloc could cause extreme displeasure in Moscow.

Brilliant Debater

'The Hatchet Man' Takes Over

By ANN HELLMUTH from Halifax

George Isaac Smith, the new Progressive Conservative premier of Nova Scotia, is a forceful, witty tactician whose debating powers and political ability once earned him the nickname "the hatchet man" from political foes and friends.

The 58-year-old premier admits he enjoys nothing more than a good political battle and can never remember a time when he wasn't interested in politics.

"I guess I was just born with an interest," he says. "And the Progressive Conservative party has always been my political home."

A small man with dark bushy eyebrows and friendly smile, his political career corresponds closely with that of his great friend and predecessor as provincial premier, Robert Lorne Stanfield, who Saturday was elected national leader of the PC party.

It was in 1946 that Mr. Smith, Mr. Stanfield and the late George Nowlan, together with a small group of Conservatives, decided to form a nucleus aimed at rejuvenating the ailing Conservative party in Nova Scotia.

"They were exciting days," Mr. Smith recalls. "Things aren't so exciting now but that is inevitable. When you have responsibilities naturally you have to be more prudent."

Instrumental in persuading Mr. Stanfield to run for presidency of the Progressive Conservative Association in 1947, he stuns any suggestion that he was the strong man behind the decision.

"I was one of several people who played a part," he said Tuesday. "I knew Bob Stanfield, liked and admired him. We lived in the same town — Truro — and knew each other well."

Mr. Smith, a native of Stewiacke, N.S., and Mrs. Stanfield's running mate in the two-member Colchester riding since 1948, won his first nomination to "cut the seat" by the skin of his teeth.

The other contestant for the nomination was Cyril Kennedy, now Conservative member of Parliament for Colchester-Hants, who Tuesday offered to give up his seat so Mr. Stanfield could contest the riding and enter the Commons as Opposition leader.

"I just made it, but only just," Mr. Smith said. "Originally I wanted to make the law my career, but after Mr. Stanfield became leader of the provincial party, it was suggested I should run for the legislature."

In opposition from 1949 to 1955, Mr. Smith was his party's leading debater, earning reputation as a cutting, formidable opponent. When the Conservative party came to power in 1948 and Mr. Stanfield formed a government, Mr. Smith became highways minister.

He held several cabinet posts including that of provincial secretary before becoming finance and economics minister in 1952, a portfolio he retains as premier.

As economics minister, he initiated the government's program of voluntary economic planning, enlisting the support of businessmen, fishermen, farmers and lumbermen to launch the self-help scheme.

Graduating from Dalhousie University in 1932, he practised law in Stewiacke and later in Truro, where he first met Mr. Stanfield.

During the Second World War, Mr. Smith served with the North Nova Scotia Highlanders in Canada and Europe and was a lieutenant-colonel when he was discharged in 1945.

A family man, he likes nothing better than an evening at home with his wife, three children and a good detective novel.

"I'm not much of a socializer," he says. "But I like campaigning and getting out and meeting the people."

We think so. And we have a sound reason to back up our belief.

Some gins have rather strong flavouring. Others are utterly tasteless. But Gilbey's London Dry has a perfect balance of flavour for mixed gin drinks.

In fact, Gilbey's dry flavour has been an international favourite

Tonic water has a delicate, refreshing taste. Gilbey's won't upstage your drink as some other gins can do.

Tories: No Fresh Wounds Causes of Disunity Gone

Colonist Ottawa Bureau

The Progressive Conservative Party appears to have emerged from the clutches of the enigmatic John Diefenbaker with no fresh wounds opened — and the causes of disunity destroyed.

The entire week-long convention, and the aftermath, were glowingly described by Duff Roblin as a "magnificent exercise in democracy."

The strange mixture of glory and tragedy of the Diefenbaker years in Canadian politics now belongs to history.

Until the actual voting started Saturday afternoon, Mr. Diefenbaker was in a position to split the party. He could have done so by retiring from the contest and continuing the fiction of major support for his concept of the Anglo-French partnership in Confederation.

His decisive defeat made this stand impossible. The balloting, in effect, united the party, and Mr. Diefenbaker capped the union with acknowledgement of his defeat with grace and dignity.

Robert Stanfield, the new Tory leader, in a fierce competitive battle, put forward only the concept of a man whose chief concern was to build a new political depth within the party and throughout the country.

The delegates recognized this stand to put him ahead from the beginning, and three opponents recognized it, too, and threw their decisive support behind Mr. Stanfield.

They were Senator Wallace McEachern, George Hees, and David Fulton.

Now, Mr. Stanfield's greatest task is to make himself known across Canada. Of all the contestants, Mr. Stanfield alone made great strides during his week at the convention. His personal presentations before committees and to groups of delegates really won the election for him.

Under Mr. Stanfield, Nova Scotia has been fruitful ground for the federal Tories, and this will stand him in good stead in the hard-core Diefenbaker ridings of the Prairies.

Quebec is a continuing problem for the Conservatives, and Mr. Stanfield came to Toronto with little general support there. However, he made a good impression on Quebec delegates to find backers, and the solid Fulton support from Quebec swung easily to Stanfield on the last vote. His French is easy and acceptable and will improve.

Thus, nearly a year later, the first phase of building a new and different Conservative Party, that started in Ottawa last November, has ended.

According to post-convention reports, David Fulton made his decisive decision of the election strictly on what he believed to be the best interests of the party and the country.

After the fourth ballot, when it was obvious he could no longer win, he had the opportunity to take the big political gamble and earn a political MDU that probably could have been redeemed at any price.

This could have been done by throwing his solid support behind Roblin and being the kingmaker of the convention. A Roblin victory could have come only through Fulton.

Instead, after listening to all his supporters, he forced his way to the convention floor and spread the word he was voting for Stanfield, freeing his supporters to vote as they wished. Most of them stayed with him.

Afterwards came one of the most moving moments of the convention.

Stanfield pushed through the crowd to take a seat beside Fulton. The two men, with fingers churning, quietly shook hands with the cool dignity of aristocrats.

The general consensus this week on George Hees, whose limited support was surprising, was that he had failed to shake his playboy image. He was taken in tow by the cheerleaders of his party, and the impression sometimes was given that Mr. Hees was out for little but laughs.

This was unfortunate for a man who carried into the campaign a distinguished record as a cabinet minister and former national party president.

But, as one was put to, "cheerleaders don't score touchdowns."

Stockpiles Loom Larger

OTTAWA (CP)—The movement in world wheat trade from a seller's to a buyer's market is reflected in a report Friday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on 1966-67 exports and stocks of major producing nations.

The report shows that wheat exports by the United States, Canada, Argentina and Australia dropped 15 per cent in the first 11 months of the crop year to 1,476,100,000 bushels.

U.S. BLAMED
At July 1, 1967, with a month to go in the crop year, the big four's stocks of wheat and wheat flour in terms of wheat were 19 per cent above the same day of 1966 at 1,307,000,000 bushels.

The U.S., which has been blamed this week by Canadian farm leaders for allowing wheat prices to fall, has suffered a 15-per-cent decline in exports. Its exports for the 11 months totalled 671,000,000 bushels, down 127,000,000 bushels.

Canadian exports were 480,400,000 bushels, off 16 per cent from the record 519,300,000 bushels a year earlier.

BUMPER CROP

The effect of the bumper crop in 1966 was to create supplies available for export and carryover of 1,308,000,000 bushels, up 10 per cent from 1965-66. Canada went into the crop year with a carryover of 455,000,000 bushels, smallest since 1962, but this has blossomed into current stocks of 629,200,000 bushels.

Importing countries have cut down on orders in recent months, possibly in anticipation of further price declines.

He said a group of companies spearheaded by Imperial Oil had entered a limited operation agreement lasting the life of the oil field. The government is also a party because royalty payments are affected.

Mr. Brothers said limited operation involved pumping water into one of the wells in a field so that more of the underground oil can be extracted. This method of operation, though more efficient in the long run, means royalty payments come in more slowly over a longer period, he said.

All parties were involved in a three-year trial agreement, just ended, Mr. Brothers said. "It worked out so well for all parties including the government that we have entered a new agreement which lasts as long as the field continues to produce."

B.C. Forest Future Rosy While Competition Met

The forest industry in B.C. faces a future of promise that should grow with every new year — provided it remains competitive in world markets, Resources Minister Willison said Wednesday.

In a message marking the beginning of National Forest Products Week Sunday, the minister said that with rising living standards in most parts of the world and consequent increase in use of wood products, the future of the industry appears almost limitless.

"In fact there are already indications that the whole of Canada's timber resources will be hard-pressed to meet demand by the end of this century," he said.

"But — and it is a big but — the intervening 33 years can make a great difference to our position in the world market. Our failure to keep up with and, indeed, stay ahead of the times could threaten ruinous of this province's major industry," Mr. Willison said.

"It is highly unlikely that any company, no matter how big or financially sound it is at the moment, could absorb the punishment that would be meted out to it through unopposed competition from other major forestry nations."

BEST MANAGEMENT

"Our future is promising. But it will take the best possible management of our forests and the most intensive utilization with sustained-yield principles to meet the challenge. With co-operation and understanding between government and the forest industry, as well as other natural resources users in the province, there is no reason why we cannot succeed."

Investment Firm Brief

Eight Carter Faults Listed

Eight main objections to the Carter report on tax revision have been listed in a brief to the minister of finance by the investment firm of Nesbitt Thomson and Co. Ltd.

The firm says the elimination of the 21-per-cent tax on business earnings of $35,000 and under would raise in some cases the taxation on small owner-managed companies by a disastrous 70 per cent.

It also claims the elimination of tax concessions for extractive industries would curtail the flow of foreign capital into these industries.

CAPITAL GAIN

It feels the suggested rate of tax on capital gains is excessive and the amount of record keeping the new recommendations would necessitate would be beyond the ability of the private citizen.

The Nesbitt Thomson submission is only one of hundreds which are now pouring into the minister's desk.

MOST CRITICAL

Most of them are critical and out of agreement with the Carter recommendations, but there are others in favor.

Such a one is by the Canadian Welfare Council which calls the Carter report "a real breakthrough," claiming the present taxation method bears more heavily on the middle and lower income groups than on the upper income group. — N.Y.

What has Cominco done in British Columbia lately?

Raised the standard of living for a start.

You may find that a little hard to believe, but it's true. In the last six years Cominco has spent $100,000,000 to grow in British Columbia. That's enough money to substantially improve any province's economy — even an economy as strong as British Columbia's. So Cominco's growth has affected you, even if you haven't noticed it. Chances are you've been more directly involved. You may have helped construct one of Cominco's new chemical fertilizer or metal plants. You may have supplied materials for Cominco's hydro facilities in the Kootenays or for the expansion of one of its subsidiaries on the coast. Or you may be one of the over 7,500 people on Cominco's B.C. payroll. Cominco's growth and expansion doesn't just happen. It happens with people — people from British Columbia.

Political Poll Next For Youth Council

Civic politics is next on the list for Victoria's youth militant.

A new group was formed Wednesday night, by the Victoria Youth Council. The group is called The Youth Research Group.

From the ranks of school students, flower children, drop-outs, rebels, and others, the movement will draft a brigade of pollsters.

They will fan out across Victoria, asking questions on the street, calling at homes to fill out their surveys.

The young people are advised in a written circular to "be neat, polite, brief . . . if pressed, say that The Youth Research Group was commissioned by the Victoria Youth Council to conduct and prepare the poll."

The first question is "Who is the mayor of Victoria?" A spokesman said this question is the most political of all, since "almost nobody knows who he is."

A sampling of other questions:

"Do you believe that certain groups should be restricted in their use of public squares?"

"Did you support city council's recent stand against the last proposed Love-In?"

"Are you satisfied with the education your child is receiving in this city?"

"Do you feel your school taxes are too high?"

Oak Bay Reeve Warns Colleagues

Regionalization May Endanger Municipalities' Credit Ratings

By NANCY BROWN

A warning that increasing regionalization might impair the credit standing of member municipalities was issued Wednesday by Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox.

He was commenting at a meeting Wednesday of the regional board on the extension of the boundaries of the capital district so that the Gulf Islands can be included for hospital purposes.

Reeve Cox told the board, "We have to be very, very careful that this board doesn't become more and more a substitute for individual municipal governments."

SMALL AREA

"Here we have one small area that is to come into this board for one function."

"It wasn't necessary for the hospital district to have the same boundaries as the region. Every time this board borrow money for any purpose, the credit of the whole area is being pledged.

"As long as the function is one that is for the benefit of the whole area, I don't think any one of us would bother about it," said the reeve.

"We have to be very, very careful that we don't get taking on so many areas and functions that we get our credit so mixed up we won't be able to do any municipal borrowing."

GULF ISLANDS

James Baird, assistant deputy minister of municipal affairs, explained to the board that the Gulf Islands representative would be a full board member, but that if that area wished to take part in board functions such as firework control, then it would have to opt in for that function.

ELECTED MAN

Reason for including the Gulf Islands in the district was so that residents would have an elected representative instead of an appointed one.

The board received an engineering study on composting of sewage, from Associated Engineering Services.

SEWAGE SLUDGE

According to the report, the composting of sewage sludge, even if a market were available, would produce no economic support for the primary sewage treatment plant necessary to produce the sludge.

Only solids — less than one-tenth of 1 per cent of sewage volume — would be processed, with the balance still to be disposed of at sea.

MORE EXPENSIVE

The primary treatment required is considerably more expensive than disposal at sea, both in first cost and an annual operating operation, the report said.

Ald. Cecil Parrott asked the board to put in a recommendation for the adoption of the original report.

Sanitch Coun. Leslie Pearson said he regretted that the subject had ever been raised.

PUT SINCERELY

"I know that the idea of composting has been sincerely put forward by proponents," he said, "but unfortunately a lot of people who just don't want to pay for sewage are getting on the bandwagon, and using this to delay the whole thing."

The report was received and filed.

Scholarship Winners Honored

Leading scholarship winners Wednesday night at Claremont Secondary School during 1967 graduation ceremonies were, from left, Kenneth Rippon, 13, Saanich Teachers' Association scholarship, $175; Denise Schmetz, 17, Department of Transport, $200; Sylvia Warburton, 17, Saanich Teachers' Association, $175; and Thomas Weston, 17, Maurice O'Connell Memorial Bursary, $200. Miss Schmetz was class valedictorian. — (Jim Ryan)

Handicapped Win Grants

Three handicapped Island university students have won $1,250 scholarships from the provincial chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. They are: Carolyn Zapf (above), 3533 Cambrian, entering second year at the University of Victoria; Lorna Erin Cox, 1280 Mann Road, now entering Simon Fraser University; Harold Alexander Russell of Duncan, who will attend the University of British Columbia.

Extra Park Cost Defended Along with Turf Decision

Additional expenditures of up to $25,000 on Royal Athletic Park are not out of line with present-day costs, according to R. S. Smith, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the Greater Victoria School Board.

"We do try to keep within 1 per cent of the contract price," said Mr. Smith, "but the $20,000 that has been spent on this $1,000,000 building is not out of line."

Despite the criticism of some city aldermen on the Victoria Recreation Committee, of which Mr. Smith is also a member, Mr. Smith said the possibility of having to pay $5,000 to reseed the park is hardly the fault of contractors or administrators.

PRESSURE FELT

"Parks administrator Herbert Warren originally wanted to seed the area," he said, "but the committee succumbed to the pressure of sporting groups and the area was turfed so that the park could be opened earlier."

"Sometimes a person goes against his better judgment, and he can't be blamed when it doesn't work out."

ALL APPROVED

Mr. Smith said part of the additional costs were because of the unusual nature of the building, and part were extras added to the contract.

"These were suggestions that came along later, and the committee approved," he said.

Student Given $300 Bursary

A $300 renewable bursary will be presented by Victoria Machinery Depot this morning to Bruce Allan, 17, son of VMD bulldozer operator George Allan, 1530 Hastings.

The bursary is renewable each year that the recipient passes exams. Bruce Allan will enter the University of Victoria next week.

Advance Poll Open On Water Ballot

Advance polls are open today and Friday for the $229,455 Prospect Lake water referendum.

People who will be out of town on Saturday, the voting day, will be able to cast ballots at the advance poll between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at municipal hall.

About 150 people who live in the Prospect Lake area are eligible to vote. Saturday's poll will be in the Prospect Lake elementary school.

The opinions of residents of the area, as well as those of Saanich officials, are divided on the issue.

At a public meeting this week, municipal planner Tom Loney said he was generally against the scheme.

Once piped water arrives in the district, more homes will be built and this would lead to further pollution of Prospect Lake, he said. He also feared that piped water might result in pressure to relax subdivision restrictions in the area.

STRICT WATCH

However, Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, senior public health officer, said the installation of a water system would not increase lake pollution as long as strict controls were maintained on further developments and home construction.

T. W. Moss, Saanich's assistant fire chief, explained that piped water would improve fire protection in the heavily wooded area.

MOST ECONOMICAL

David McLellan, a Saanich municipal engineer, said the proposed system is the most economical which could be designed for the district.

He warned, however, that an extremely dry spell could diminish or interrupt the supply. This problem would exist until a reservoir was built on Observatory Hill.

Mannequin Mission: Survival

Mannequin which will be used to teach mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to swim classes at Crystal Garden this month was designed by Norwegian industrialist whose daughter died in swimming mishap. Getting her ready for demonstrations are Ed Chow of Chinatown Lions Club, hairdresser Stanley Larsen and Red Cross swim instructor Lynda Tucker. — (Jim Ryan)

Bus Stops, Driver Goes To Hospital

A B.C. Hydro bus operator taken ill early Wednesday evening while driving his Burnside-Williamson route pulled the vehicle up at 1055 West Burnside and asked at the house to be taken to hospital.

William J. Lewis, 53, 1180 Colville, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Saanich fire department ambulance. He was released after examination.

A standby driver was sent out and the bus was away again in 20 minutes.

THE DAILY BRITISH COLONIST

September 14, 1867

The benefit tendered to Benjamin Boland by our citizens will come off this evening. Seats may be secured from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today. The performance will be under the patronage of His Excellency the Governor; and the troops will make but one more performance here prior to their departure for California, none should miss this opportunity. The bill is the best that has been yet offered.

Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock a one-story house on Pioneer Street, inhabited by a colored man named Orlor, and owned by a Mr. White, took fire and was burned to the ground. Most of the furniture was removed. The furniture of a small house situated east of the building destroyed was in imminent peril for a time. The Deluge and Tiger Engine Companies, followed by the truck, were early on that spot and directed their efforts to pulling down and playing upon the remains of the building. The house was insured in the Royal for a small amount.

At Geo Meyer's—"Man's Companion" and "DKL"—two choice brands of Tobacco, just received per steamer Active.

Garden Club Plans Show

Entry forms are available at the Esquimalt Plant Drug Store for the Esquimalt Garden Club's fall show Sept. 23 in Jubilee Hall on Fraser Street.

Entries can be telephoned or mailed to Mrs. A. C. Wurtz, 325 Pleasant Place; Mrs. J. Wilson, 382 Adelaide; and Mrs. R. Davidson, 1128 Munro.

Final Show

Victoria Riding Academy will hold a large horse show on Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 9, to wind up the season. Entry forms are available at the academy's offices on Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Howe Scores High on Student Hero-Graph

By BILL STAYDAL

Laurier LaPierre is a greater Canadian hero to junior students at the University of Victoria than either John Diefenbaker or Tommy Douglas.

Gordie Howe outranked Prime Minister Pearson in a survey of first- and second-year history students made last spring.

Even Louis Riel got more votes than Mackenzie King, when freshmen and sophomores were asked to list 10 national heroes.

The poll was begun by history professor Dr. Sydney Jackman "just for fun," he said Wednesday. Later, a similar poll was taken in seven other Canadian universities with the aid of UVic students Brian Rowbottom, 522 Judah, and Dwight Holland, 3400 Quadra.

Howe

The universities ranged geographically from Victoria to Memorial University in Newfoundland. Only the results from French-speaking Laval University are lacking.

Dr. Jackman is saving the detailed results for publication in a national magazine sometime this fall.

But he reported Wednesday that all the results received so far give top spot to Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first prime minister.

Second choices vary according to region, he said.

UVic students picked Alexander Mackenzie, first white explorer to cross the Rockies and reach the Pacific.

At the University of Manitoba they gave second-place honors to Metis rebel Louis Riel. In order, UVic students named Sir John Mackenzie, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Samuel de Champlain and Mr. Frederick Banting, co-discoverer of insulin.

After them came Riel and Mackenzie King, hockey player Gordie Howe, explorer David Thompson, Prime Minister Pearson, Olympic skier Nancy Greene, and another hockey player, Maurice Richard.

Further down came broad-easter-scholar Laurier LaPierre, and near the bottom were Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Douglas.

Diefenbaker and Douglas got practically no votes at UVic, said Dr. Jackman.

To Play Here

Rugged number eight forward David Rollet has been named to the touring English rugby side which will play British Columbia all-stars Sept. 26 at Royal Athletic Park. The 23-year-old school teacher has been capped 14 times for England.

Aussie Hopes Dashed

Intrepid Outsails 'Dame' Again

NEWPORT, R.I. (CP) — Intrepid outsailed Dame Pattie Wednesday for the second consecutive day, dashing Australian hopes in the best-of-seven America's Cup yachting series. Intrepid, the white-hulled United States defender, crossed the finish line three minutes and 35 seconds ahead of Dame Pattie. The Australian 12-metre yacht appears to have no chance of winning this 20th challenge round.

NO REST ASKED

But, immediately after the race, Australian skipper Jack Sturrock signalled he was willing to compete again today, declining to ask for a rest day permitted under the rules. Weather permitting, today's third race will start at 12:10 p.m. EDT.

Intrepid showed she ruled the waves no matter what the weather.

Tuesday she had defeated Dame Pattie by a margin of five minutes, 58 seconds in gusty winds of 18 to 22 knots. Wednesday, the winds were so light that the start was delayed 26 minutes. The race, over a 24.3-mile, six-leg course on Rhode Island Sound, finally got under way in an east-northeast breeze of 10 knots, which gradually picked up to about 18 knots and fell again to 12-15 knots.

CHANCES WRECKED

But Dame Pattie fell behind markedly on the leeward fifth leg. Intrepid crossed the line in four hours, four minutes and 21 seconds, followed by the blue-hulled, 65-foot Dame Pattie in 4:07:37.

Dame Pattie's chances were virtually wrecked on the first leg. This was another windward leg of 4½ miles. She had trouble with a jib—a headsail set on a stay—and lost about 30 seconds. This was costly as she trailed Intrepid by 53 seconds at the first marker. The United States has held the cup for 116 years. This is the 20th challenge since 1870, Canada being among the countries which have tried to lift it and failed.

REVEREND REMOTE

Choppy seas at the end of Wednesday's race did not help the Australians, who said their yacht was designed specifically to cope with lighter winds usually found on the U.S. course.

Only a massive error or an accident could give the challengers a chance to wrest the cup from the New York Yacht Club which holds it. This seems a remote possibility.

Season Ends at Exhibition Park, Betting Topped $23.6 Million

VANCOUVER (CP) — Exhibition Park's 94-day horse racing season ended Wednesday, with 6,240 on hand for the 10-race "an revolv" card.

Closing-day mutual handle was $358,757, bringing the handle for the season to $22,609,955.

Total attendance was 605,904.

Wednesday's feature was an endurance test of 2½ miles, won by Gall's Best in record time. The five-year-old brown gelding covered the distance in three minutes, 43 seconds to clip 2.1 seconds off the record set exactly one year ago Wednesday by Dan Bandage.

Gall's Best, ahead by five lengths at the finish, earned $1,575 for owners Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Pettigrew.

Even before the last race went to the gate, a mass exodus for Victoria's Sandown Park had begun.

Many horses, owners, trainers and jockeys are heading for Vancouver Island for Saturday's opening of the 12th annual Sandown meet, a 16-day race program.

With Nationals

WINNIPEG (CP) — Defenceman Brian Glennie, captain of Toronto Marlboros when the Ontario Hockey Association junior club won the Memorial Cup last May, Tuesday joined Canada's national hockey team for the 1967-68 season.

Junior Proposes Players' Group

EDMONTON (CP) — Ian Wilkie, a member of the Edmonton Oil Kings hockey club, announced today that he is proposing formation of a players' association in the Western Canada Junior Hockey League.

Wilkie, an Oil Kings' goaltender for the past two seasons, said he borrowed the idea of the association from one in the National league.

Both the National and Western Canada Junior Leagues, he said, have 12 teams, similar lengths of seasons, and similarly large distances between teams' home cities.

Wilkie said he envisages the players' association helping in a variety of areas. "What happens if a player breaks his leg? Does the team continue to keep him in school or university? Or if he's working, do they compensate him for missed wages?"

"I know the Oil Kings look after us if something like this happens, but what about the other teams in the league?"

Wilkie, a university student, said that at the beginning of last season the league office made mention of bonus and award money for individual performance leaders but nothing more was heard about it.

"There are many more areas in which players should be able to give an opinion, such as scheduling around exam periods and trading of players who are enrolled in school."

Wilkie said he plans to write a senior player at each training camp around the league when they open Sept. 22 and ask for a vote of all veterans on the subject.

If a majority around the league are in favor, each team will elect one or two player representatives and an organizational meeting could be held when the all-stars gather to play the Canadian national team.

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — when national security is at stake. The U.S. Senate approved Wednesday a bill prohibiting individuals prying into the sex habits and personal beliefs of government workers.

The legislation, passed by a vote of 79 to four, would not prevent the Central Intelligence Agency and Federal Bureau of Investigation from pursuing such "Peeping Tom" inquiries

Luxton Hall Threatened Again

Langford firemen and RCMP are investigating the cause of a fire that broke out Wednesday night on the edge of the recent Luxton Hall blaze.

Firemen were quick to get to the blaze of unknown origin and kept the burned area to a few square feet.

A grass fire on John Dean Park Road near Sidney brought Sidney volunteer Fire Department out at 5:30 p.m.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—White mobs dispersed by police tear gas regrouped along a main street on the virtually all-white South Side and bombarded cars containing Negroes with rocks, bottles and stones Wednesday night. (See earlier story on Page 46.)

The new violence on the South Side erupted after white youths had staged a march earlier in the evening on the residence of the Roman Catholic archbishop of Milwaukee in a second straight night of protests seeking the ouster of a white priest leading open-house demonstrations.

The priest, Rev. James E. Groppi, led a new march Wednesday night in the 17th straight night of demonstrations.

STINGING SMOG

Police pulled back from the area of 16th Street after the tear gas attack which left a heavy haze of eye-stinging smog hanging over the neighborhood of lower middle-class homes, taverns and small shops.

The groups of whites pushed farther down 16th Street and awaited cars with Negroes at the wheel. Each time a car passed cries of "nigger, nigger" resounded from the crowd. The bottles and bricks soon zeroed on the cars. The crowd roared its approval each time a direct hit was made. The Negro motorists tried to weave their way toward safety while the cries rose: "Tip them over, tip them over."

RIOT GUNS

At 11 p.m. police moved in, firing tear gas and finally dispersed the crowd. Other police fired riot guns straight up in the air.

The parade to the archbishop's house was without incident. "We want Cousins," the group of about 250 whites, many of them under 18, chanted after marching from the city's virtually all-white South Side—where violence has greeted Father Groppi's demonstrations.

After several minutes, the archbishop, William E. Cousins, waited in his front lawn and briefly addressed the group.

He reiterated a statement published earlier Wednesday on the controversy and said: "This is not an issue of one man or one priest. It is an issue that involves the entire city of Milwaukee."

The crowd applauded the archbishop politely as he finished.

DISCRIMINATION

But the government would not be barred from questioning alleged sexual offenders on its payroll. It could advise them of the charges and give them a chance to refute accusations. The measure also would do away with questionnaires asking prospective government employees to indicate whether they were "American Indian, Oriental, Negro, Spanish-American or none of these."

Jubilee Says Hello And Goodbye

Victoria's two major hospitals are solidly into a new era.

The last few months will be memorable segments in the histories of both St. Joseph's and Royal Jubilee.

On Wednesday night, Royal Jubilee formally said goodbye to Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, its medical administrator since 1948. At the same time, it welcomed Dr. A. C. Pickles, newly arrived from Regina, as its executive director.

IN SPRING

Dr. Pickles replaces as the hospital's chief administrator George Masters, who retired in the spring. Mr. Masters now is running the Royal Jubilee Development Society, a non-profit organization set up to find money for badly-needed equipment.

TREND START

Royal Jubilee, however, is running a few months behind St. Joseph's in a drive to set up a strong group of management brainpower.

The appointment of Dr. Em-bert Van Tilburg as St. Joseph's

Tilt-Wing Plane Crash Won't Delay Delivery

MONTREAL (CP) — Production of three experimental tilt-wing aircraft will not be slowed despite the crash Tuesday of a prototype of the aircraft, a Canadair Ltd. spokesman said Wednesday.

The three twin-engine planes—known as CL-64's and capable of taking off and landing vertically—had already been sold to the Canadian government.

The prototype had been put through 95 per cent of its evaluation trials before the crash.

the spokesman said in an interview.

The three planes being built by Canadair, sold for $13,000,000 and are to be evaluated by the defence department for various military roles.

Final tests will be done on the first plane to come off the production lines prior to delivery, the spokesman said.

The prototype crashed and burned in an open field in suburban Laval but the pilot and flight engineer ejected and parachuted safely to the ground.

Algeria Keeps Course

Oil Embargo Removed, So Is U.S. Company

ALGIERS (UPI) — Algeria eased off on Britain but appeared to crack down on the U.S. in two economic moves Wednesday.

The Arab state partly lifted the oil embargo decided against Britain June 6 following the outbreak of the Arab-Israeli war.

But the government also nationalized the Algerian branch of Procter and Gamble. The U.S. firm is one of the major household products manufacturers.

INDUSTRY MINISTRY — The Algerian Camel Company (Compagnie Algérienne de Méthane Liquide) announced the industry ministry has authorized the British gas tanker Methane Program to take on a liquid methane shipment.

It was still not known if Algeria was ready to lift completely its oil and other goods embargoes imposed on Britain and the U.S. The lifting was decided by the recent Khartoum Arab summit conference.

NO MENTION WHEN — In the nationalization move, Procter and Gamble will be compensated for its loss, but President Boumedienne's decree did not say when or by how much. The value of Procter and

Israel Claims New Attack

From UPI

Egyptian forces on the west bank of the Suez Canal Wednesday fired on an Israeli patrol near El Qantara where both sides battled across the waterway for two hours Tuesday, an Israeli communique reported.

The communique issued in Jerusalem said the firing lasted only a few minutes and reported no casualties among the patrol making a "routine mission" along the occupied east bank. It did not say whether the Israeli soldiers fired back.

NORTHERN ENTRANCE — There was no immediate confirmation from Cairo of the reported incident which Israel said took place eight miles north of El Qantara and about 10 miles south of Port Said at the northern entrance to the canal.

Soviet warships were sent to Port Said shortly after the war in June to help their Arab allies "repel any aggression."

In Cairo, the newspaper Al-Ahram reported investigations into the reported plot by 50 top military officers against UAR President Nasser will be completed within two weeks.

COURTS MARTIAL — The newspaper is edited by Hassanin Hekhal, a confidant of Nasser.

It said the conspirators, including Abdel Hakim Amer, who was once Nasser's right-hand man, a vice-president and deputy supreme commander of the armed forces, would go before courts martial. The newspaper said the persons involved in the alleged plot included "leading personalities ... responsible for the military setback" in the June war with Israel.

Al-Ahram said the plotters not only wanted to restore themselves to powerful posts lost in the shakeup after the war but also wanted to cover up their responsibility in the Israeli military victory.

Amer and the other alleged conspirators were rounded up on Aug. 26 only 24 hours before they were to move against Nasser, the newspaper said.

Al-Ahram said investigations showed Shams Badran, former war minister, and Abbas Radwan, former minister of the interior, were deeply involved. Others, it said, included Salah Nasr, former director of Egypt's intelligence service; who was "retired on pension" last week.

Reports from Tel Aviv indicated Gen. Moshe Dayan, outspoken defence minister, had again upset Premier Levi Eshkol. Dayan has given instructions that henceforth journalists wishing to interview him must make application to the premier's office first.

"All cabinet ministers make statements but the defence minister has repeatedly found objections raised to his talks with newsmen," a reliable source close to Dayan said.

Arab League Trying To Mend Aden Split

CAIRO (UPI) — The council of the Arab League Wednesday night appealed to rival nationalist organizations in Aden to come together to work for South Arabia's independent future.

The league, expressing concern over "the turmoil and Arab bloodshed in South Arabia," authorized league secretary-general Abdel Khalek Hassuna to invite both the National Liberation Front and the Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen to meet "to work for achieving the stability, security and national objectives of the area."

5,000,000 French Get Tax Cut

PARIS (AP) — The government Wednesday handed a 250 million franc tax cut to about 5,000,000 French taxpayers in the lower brackets.

It will apply to people who would ordinarily pay less than 200 francs of their 1966 revenues. Income tax on individuals in France amounts for only 11 per cent of the government's tax revenue.

Bill Passed

Arms Deal Off?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Senate passed and sent to the White House Wednesday a $700,000,000 defense money bill — biggest single appropriation in the U.S. history — with an amendment that could wreck a big arms deal with Britain.

Final congressional approval of the measure came on a 74-3 vote after the Senate voted, 49 to 27, to uphold a House-approved amendment ordering that all U.S. naval vessels be built in U.S. shipyards.

The amendment, sponsored by Rep. John Byrne (R-Wis.) in whose home district minesweepers are built, was strongly opposed by administration supporters in both houses.

BRITAIN BID

The amendment effectively overruled an administration decision to permit Britain to bid for construction of seven wooden hull minesweepers for the U.S. navy at a cost of $80,700,000.

The agreement was part of a multi-billion-dollar arrangement under which Britain pledged to buy as much as eight times as much U.S. military equipment, including new F4A fighter-bombers, as the United States would buy in return.

ARMS DEAL

The Anglo-American arms deal called for Britain to buy $2,000,000,000 worth of military equipment from the United States, partially offset by U.S. purchase of $350,000,000 worth from British manufacturers.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) chairman of the senate armed services committee, called the house action "a gross encroachment." He said it would not only American shipyards, as equipped, and "it is going to injure the image of this nation."

Russians Boost N-Hopes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. state department officials disclosed Wednesday the Soviet Union has developed a compromise formula on policing an international agreement to halt the spread of nuclear weapons. They expressed hope the compromise might lead to completion of a draft treaty.

State department spokesman Robert McCloskey said the Russians had moved away from their previous hard stand that the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna was solely responsible for inspections.

JOINT PLEDGE

The U.S. has supported the idea of having Euratom, a west European affiliate of the Common Market, conduct inspections during an initial three-year period. Russia objected to this as "self-inspection."

Soviet formula was reported to contain new and slightly ambiguous language which might permit temporary inspection by Euratom.

Pro-Chinese Organize In Britain

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's Communist party has split and pro-Chinese factions have set up a separate wing, political informants disclosed Wednesday.

The new organization, the Marxist-Leninist Organization for Britain, was established at a secret meeting in London last week. Its aim is to build up a sizeable pro-Chinese membership to rival Britain's traditionally pro-Moscow Reds.

The new group insists for solidarity with China, supports the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung and follows the Peking line of opposition to Soviet "revisionism." The move followed increasing tension after three members advocating a pro-Chinese policy were ousted earlier this year.

Why change a good thing?

Look, the car is a thing that can't change. They're right, just the way they are. Like our Rambler American.

It was designed as a really smart, 220-horsepower machine, and it's right. That's why it's been going strong February when we introduced a new model changeover for the Rambler American. That design meant we could reduce the price of the car — which would, by about $200.

We struck a responsive chord. Rambler

American was jumped by 234M.

So now it's almost time to announce the '68's and what are we going to do?

Stick to our guns. We're not changing the Rambler American. It's the same basic, sensible, economical transportation it was last year. It's still a two-seater compact designed and engineered to meet Canadian traffic and weather conditions. It's still equipped with a standard, economical, high performance 128 hp Six and it's still priced between the too-small imports and the too costly compacts.

Want to get in on our good thing? The place to do it is your nearby American Motors/Rambler dealer. He's got 5 versions of our good thing...and he'd like to get one going for you.

American Woman Fights Famine of Mind in India

OTTAWA (CP) — A school for teachers set up by the widow of an American bishop is helping the villagers of India fight famine of the mind.

Mrs. Welthy Fisher, 85, began the school in central India when she was 72. About 5,000 teachers have been trained there, bringing literacy to 500,000 Indians.

In Ottawa to visit friends, Mrs. Fisher said 85 per cent of the people in underdeveloped countries live in villages untouched by any of the advances of the 19th or 20th centuries. "They have nothing. The hospitals, universities and technical schools are all in the big cities."

A stout grey-haired woman with an efficient but kindly manner, Mrs. Fisher's first choice of a career was grand opera. While studying in New York City at the turn of the century she attended a missionary meeting at Carnegie Hall and within a year had decided to give up singing and head a girls' school in China.

During the First World War she served in France with the YWCA War Work Council and afterwards travelled the world writing and lecturing.

At 44 she married Frederick Fisher, Methodist Episcopal bishop of India and Burma. At his death after 14 years of marriage she began travelling and lecturing again.

When she was 70, Mahatma Gandhi asked her to help the people in his villages. Literacy House was her answer to his request.

The school she started on a shoestring now has an annual budget of $100,000 supplied by government, charitable foundations and private donations.

A Canadian business women's sorority, Beta Sigma Phi, is a contributor and the Junior Farmers of Ontario have promised support for a new agricultural course for young Indian farmers.

The 29-acre campus near Lucknow has accommodation for 120 men and women, a theatre, library and interdenominational chapel.

One project of the school is endowed by the Ford Foundation to train recognized Indian authors in writing books and plays for the new reader with a small vocabulary.

The books, including titles like What Can You Make from Bamboo and How to Keep Your Child Well, to villages by jeep-library or with book men on bicycles.

Another part of the school teaches use of educational puppets, pictures, films and demonstrations. In a third project, village head men are given a 10-day course in community life.

Three universities have given Mrs. Fisher honorary doctorates for her education work, but she says her proudest award is the $30,000 prize given by the government of Malaysia for her contribution to literacy in Asia.

She says her North American visit is not a holiday but an economic necessity.

"I don't have time for a vacation. I come back every so often with my begging bowl."

Ontario Honeymoon

Following a honeymoon in Ontario, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Howard Hermitson will make their home at Lake Cowichan. The bride, the former Janice Louise Hunter, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hunter, 2607 Shelbourne Street. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hermitson, New Liskeard, Ont.

Oak Bay United Church was decorated with candlelight and multi-colored gladioli for the double-ring service conducted by the Dr. D. B. Sparling.

Given in marriage by her father and mother, the bride wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie, styled in empire lines accented with lace and lace flowers cascading down the long court train. Her veil of illusion net melted to shoulder length from lace petals outlined in pearls and she carried yellow roses and white carnations cascading from her white Bible.

Maid of honor, Miss Donna Dunnaway, bridesmaids, the Misses Gloria Jean Della Savia, cousin of the bride and Gail Dunnaway were gownned alike in orchid colored peau de soie dresses styled on empire lines and accented by lace. They carried bouquets of white carnations topped with the same orchid coloring. Their orchid colored not headpieces were held by points of peau de soie.

Mr. Ray Sore was best man and ushering were Mr. John Hunter, bride's brother, and Mr. John Thomas.

Mr. Bruno (Del) Savia proposed the toast to his niece at the reception which followed in Henderson Hall.

For travelling the bride chose a two-piece suit in robin's egg blue complemented by white accessories.

BATE DROPS

Only 15 per cent of today's late teen-agers were married before they were 18, compared with 23 per cent of women now in their early 30s.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Simmers are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary next week, and to mark the occasion their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Parsons, have arranged an at-home. The couple will receive their many friends at the Parsons home, 1041 Oliver Street, on Saturday, Sept. 23, from 2:30 to 5 in the afternoon and in the evening from 7 until 9:30. Mr. and Mrs. Simmers were married in Courtenay on Sept. 17, 1917, and have lived in Victoria since their wedding. — (S. H. Draper)

Mrs. Blair Named Regent

A birthday cake for a member, Mrs. G. Moody, who was celebrating her 13rd birthday, was a highlight of a tea following the meeting of Florence Nightingale Chapter, IOOE, held at the home of Mrs. W. R. Roskelley.

At the business meeting Mrs. William Blair was nominated regent to succeed Mrs. W. W. Wash, who has left to live in Vancouver.

Mrs. Cyril G. Baker was named first vice-regent and Mrs. W. J. H. Patterson publicity convener.

Miniskirts Taboo For Indonesians

JAKARTA (Reuters) — Indonesian mothers are telling their daughters not to wear miniskirts with hemlines about seven inches above the knee.

Some women's organizations also have joined in the criticism.

The influential Indonesian Women's Action Front KAWI urged Indonesian girls to defend the national identity by wearing national dress at public and official functions.

"Indonesian girls," KAWI declared, "look funny in miniskirts."

A wave of criticism followed the recent appearance on the state-run television of pretty young Indonesian singer, Ida Rochjan, in a miniskirt.

In some cities, miniskirts were banned by the authorities, and in Bandung, capital of West Java, police have been rounding up girls wearing miniskirts and warning them to appear properly dressed.

In general, Indonesian women cling to their national costumes as a symbol of their cultural past.

Although girls wear Western style uniforms in school and Western clothes as students, they tend to switch to the national costume as they grow older.

This consists of a "kain," or tight wrap-around skirt reaching to the lower calf, and a "kebaya," or lacy long-sleeved jacket, close-fitting and reaching to the waist.

The kain is made of batik, an Indonesian cloth dyed in intricate patterns by a hand-applied wax process. The designs and the way in which a kain is worn can indicate from which region a woman comes.

High-heeled sandals and a scarf worn on one shoulder complete the usual kain-kebaya costume.

The scarf was once used as a veil in Moslem Indonesia. Often it is hand-woven from fine yarns interlaced with gold and silver threads.

I FOUND A LOVELY SURPRISE AT THE SUPERMARKET

one day... LIFEBUOY deodorant soap — one of my long-time favourites — has been substantially reduced in price! I learned that this is a permanent price reduction and applies to all packs, colours and sizes. Just think how this will help balance your weekly budget. To my mind, Lifebuoy is one of the finest soaps I've ever used. It's wonderfully pleasant-smelling — and it offers protection you can really depend on since Lifebuoy contains an active ingredient that inhibits bacterial growth up to 48 hours! No wonder Lifebuoy is called "the world's most refreshing deodorant soap".

ANY WAY YOU LOOK AT IT, an Honest Wash is the best policy! With the Honest Wash you can rid your clothes of built-up grime of the washing machine, that dirty gray film which builds up and clings to your fabrics wash after wash. The Honest Wash leaves your clothes white, fresh smelling, naturally soft and honestly clean. Just add CALGON water conditioner along with your detergent to your next wash and see your clothes come out whiter, fresher, and softer than ever. Next washday, instead of disguising the problem with bleach and whiteners, etc., let Calgon get rid of it... honestly.

IF YOUR DAUGHTER will be away from home at school or college, it's always a good idea to send her off with a bottle of CORRECTOL in her luggage. You never know when irregularity might become a problem and cut down her energy and enthusiasm for her studies or school activities. CORRECTOL is a gentle-acting laxative, prepared by Pharmaco (Canada) Ltd. especially for a woman's delicate system. Correctol combines a mild waste-softening action with just enough of a laxative to give regularity a start. The prompt unburied relief it provides makes it ideal for women of all ages — safe for use even during menstruation or following childbirth. Pick up a supply of CORRECTOL for your daughter and yourself at your favourite drug center.

PEACE OF MIND... that's what you will enjoy when NUPERCINAL CREAM is in your medicine cabinet. I've found, for my family, it is the only all-purpose first aid cream — and it is both antiseptic and anesthetic. It's wonderful to be able to recommend a product that takes care of those emergencies that arise in every household — minor cuts — skin irritations (even acne and diaper rash). And I have found Nupercinal Cream has the most soothing and relaxing effects when applied generously and gently to tired and aching feet! Do get Nupercinal All-Purpose Antiseptic Cream, available at drugstores everywhere.

STILL THINK SALT IS JUST A SEASONING?... then you haven't heard how handy WINDSOR SALT is for other uses around your home. Personal hygiene, for instance. One teaspoon of Windsor Salt in a glass of warm water makes an excellent mouthwash — or gargle. As a dandy dentifrice that helps whiten teeth, harden gums and sweeten the breath, I use it as it comes from the box. If you're hesitant about having a salt box in the bathroom, the Windsor Salt people have come up with a charming idea — a decorative apothecary jar, imprinted in black with the word "Salt" in old English script. This can be yours for just $1.00, plus the Windsor "W" from the two pound box as proof of purchase, mailed to Windsor Salt, P.O. Box 6328, Montreal.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: People write to you about all sorts of things. I want to talk to you about my parrot. He has taught me more about unselfish love than any human I ever knew, including my mother.

Hans Wurst was given to me by a friend who had to leave town. I didn't want him. I gave him away twice. Both times the people brought him back. He talks a blue streak and some of the things he says aren't very nice.

Hans is beautiful. He is affectionate. He is interesting. He also bites people who tease him. He keeps me up nights shrieking and cussing. He makes a mess of his cage and is a sticky eater. But he is worth all the trouble because he is my friend. When I am unhappy he knows it and yells, "Lemsee outa here." I take him out of the cage and put him on my shoulder. He nuzzles his little head under my ears and says, "Everything will be fine." And I believe him.

So, Ann, suggest a bird for people who don't want cats or dogs. The only thing that saddens me is the thought that Hans will not live forever and I will miss him desperately when he goes. —ALFIE

Dear Alfie: Cheer up. The life expectancy of a parrot runs anywhere from 15 to 30 years. Hans might be around longer than you, Bub.

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to the woman who had the phony fainting spells was wrong. I know from experience because my sister-in-law has been pulling the same stuff for 20 years.

Her husband has spent a fortune on doctors and hospital bills. No one has been able to find anything wrong with her. Now, instead of having her phony attacks once a month, she has them six times a week. This woman spends most of her time in bed watching TV.

She has a tantrum if she isn't waddled on fast enough. Her medication is nothing but tranquilizers. She has everyone under her thumb and it is nauseating.

You say people like this need compassion and understanding. I say her husband should have called her bluff years ago and thrown her out on her ear. So please stop covering up for these phobes. Ann Landers, don't suggest compassion and understanding. Suggest the booby hatch. They are nuts. —NO SYMPATHY FOR PRETENDERS

Dear No Sympathy: Your angry recital is filled with contradictions. On one hand you say your sister-in-law is a phony and her husband should have called her bluff years ago. On the other hand you say she should be in the booby hatch because she is nuts.

A woman who spends most of her time in bed even though the doctors can find nothing wrong with her has PLENTY wrong. She is coping out because she can't face life. The woman is emotionally ill and this type of illness can be as incapacitating as two broken legs. It is difficult to explain this to one who has not experienced emotional illness but, take my word for it, these unfortunate folks suffer a living hell.

Confidential to Mad at Him: Sorry, but you are wrong. The driver of a car should not be expected to light a lady's cigarette. Safety is more important than civility. That split second of "politeness" could land you both in the hospital — or worse.

Cabbage Family Best Bargains

OTTAWA (CP) — Cabbage and its relatives — broccoli, cauliflower and Brussels sprouts — are among the best-buy fall vegetables that will be in plentiful supply until frosty weather arrives.

This is the word from home economists at the agriculture department. The best broccoli, they say in their monthly bulletin, is dark green to purple in color with tender but firm stalks. One pound will give three servings.

Brussels sprouts should be firm, compact and green and they should be used before leaves show any yellow.

For the best cauliflower choose crisp, white heads with no brown spots. A 2-pound cauliflower is enough for six persons.

Cabbage should be solid and heavy with no damaged or wilted leaves. Home economists recommend soaking the cabbage in wedges, six of which can be served from a two-pound head.

ceremony performed by Canon Graham Baker in St. John's Anglican Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Waring, and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. E. Greer of Uchelet.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length sleeveless dress of deep elegance, with long-sleeved bodice covered with Queen Bees Nottingham lace. She carried a bouquet of roses with stephanotis, and for something old she wore her great-grandmother's ruby and diamond ring. Her full-length veil was caught to a crystal and pearl tiara.

Her attendants were gowned alike in Empire-style dresses of crystal charm. Maid of honor Miss Maureen Giles was in deep coral; Miss Claudia Spence in pale green; Miss Cathie Koell-mel in gold, and Miss Margaret Greer in pale green. The quartet of attendants all carried bouquets of gold chrysanthemums. Their hair were of matching tulle gathered to self-fabric flowers.

Mr. Steve Winpenny was best man, and ushers were Mr. James Freemantle, Mr. James Waring and Mr. Jack Heath.

Mr. D. Tweedhope proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in the Legion Hall at Langford where table decorations included a miniature bridal party dressed in the same materials as the bride and her attendants, by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. H. White.

For travelling, the bride wore an aqua blue wool dress and jacket with bone-colored accessories.

Symons-May

Of interest in Victoria is the wedding that took place in Smithers, B.C., earlier this month, uniting in marriage Kathryn Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray May of Smithers and Michael E. Symons, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Symons of Victoria.

Rev. John Stokes officiated at the evening ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white brocade with Empire waistline, and a long train cascading from her shoulders. With it she wore a three-tier veil, and she carried a bouquet of red roses with white carnations, sections of which she later presented to her mother and the groom's mother.

Miss Marilyn May was maid of honor.

Dueck-Chapman

In the Chapel of Trinity College, Langley, B.C. marriage vows were exchanged by Marie Joyce Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Marshall, Hampshire Road, and Mr. Peter Allen Dueck, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. P. Dueck of Steinbach, Man.

For the candle-lit ceremony, the bride wore a gown of classic design in fine white silk linen, with three bands of Guipure lace bordering the skirt.

With it was a full cathedral train; and her veil of illusion net misted from a headpiece of orange blossoms. In her bouquet were white, gold and bronze chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaid Miss Adele Evans wore an Empire gown of deep yellow with a cow necktie. Her hairpiece was in matching yellow and she carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums in Autumn shades of cream and bronze.

Mr. Arnie Friesen was best man, and the groom's brother, Mr. Henry Dueck, ushered with Mr. S. Friesen.

After the double-ring ceremony a reception was held in the wings of the chapel, where the bride's godfather, Mr. G. C. Bastedo of Salt Spring Island, proposed the toast.

Later, as the couple left for a wedding trip to Long Beach and other island points, the bride

But Others Persist

School Strike Ends

NEW YORK (AP). — A week-long teachers strike in Broward County, Fla. ended Wednesday. Optimistic notes were sounded in negotiations to settle teacher walkouts that have crippled the giant New York and Detroit school systems.

But in Houston, Tex., Providence, R.I., and 18 Michigan counties, school disputes dragged on with no end in sight.

COURT THREAT

Working against the ultimatum of a court injunction to reopen schools, Brownard County teachers and school board officials accepted a compromise salary offer to boost starting pay to $5,600. The teachers had asked $5,650 and turned down a school board offer of $5,508.

The county's 90,000 public school youngsters were told to report to class this morning after both sides announced a compromise had been worked out in conference.

In New York, behind-the-scenes negotiations were reported under way to end a three-day walkout that has disrupted classes for the city's 1,100,000 public school youngsters.

MORE DEFIANCE
A New York state Supreme Court justice issued a temporary injunction prohibiting continuation of the strike.

The union ignored another anti-strike order when it launched the walk-out Monday—and a union leader said this one would be defied also.

In Detroit, negotiators for the city's 11,000 striking teachers and the board of education were looking to a two-year contract as a possible solution to the dispute that has kept 300,000 youngsters out of classes since last Wednesday.

Forces Won't Wait

The B.C. cabinet Wednesday passed an order-in-council authorizing payment of house acquisition grants to members of the armed forces whose duty outside the province would otherwise impose a year's waiting period.

The order authorized payment of $20,000 out of revenues to assist those armed forces members affected. The act provides grants of $200 for people purchasing a home for the first time.

Food Stores

Clerks Seek Raise

About 2,000 food store employees here and on the Lower Mainland have gone to conciliation in an effort to obtain a $1 an hour wage increase.

About 30 stores in Greater Victoria are affected by the contract dispute between Local 1518 of the Retail Food and Drug Clerks Union and seven food outlets — Safeway, Super-Valu, Dominion, Loblaw, Shop-Easy, IGA and High-Low.

The employees were receiving between $1.70 and $2.35 an hour under a three-year agreement which has just ended.

MEET BOTH PARTIES

Conciliation officer J. A. Lafling of the provincial labor department has met both parties.

Meanwhile, a contract renewal between six chain stores here and in Vancouver and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen has gone to a three-day conciliation board which will hold meetings next week.

Some 800 union members are striking for a four-day, 36-hour work week along with a $1 an hour increase in a one-year contract.

For Oak Bay

Bridge, Bingo, Soccer

A varied winter program for people of all ages has been lined up by the Oak Bay Recreation Commission.

A new outdoor program for women will open with a tour of HMCS Qu'Appelle at 1 p.m. Tuesday. Mrs. Kenneth Murphy at 385-2680 and Mrs. M. J. Craig at 385-4711 are making arrangements. Deadline is noon Monday.

A music appreciation class will start Oct. 2, the same day that the winter bridge program opens in Montessori School. Soccer will be played this month at Windsor and Carrivon Parks, where rugby has already been started.

PLAY READING

A new play-reading group will be formed during a meeting in the municipal hall Oct. 4, two days after table tennis starts at Willows and badminton starts in the Junior high school gymnasium.

For senior citizens, there will be special events, cards, ceramic classes, bingo games and teas, starting Sept. 22.

Realty Firm Denies Channel

EDMONTON (CP) — Johnstone Weber, managing director of Weber Brothers Realty Ltd. of Edmonton, Wednesday denied a suggestion his firm was "merely a channel" whereby Welfare Minister A. J. Hooke acquired title to a farm property on which the town of Sherwood Park now stands.

He was testifying at a judicial inquiry into allegations of impropriety in government in Alberta.

Mr. Weber was under questioning by W. B. Gill, who represents Garth Turcott, the man who first made the allegations, and Neil Reimer, leader of the Alberta New Democratic Party.

CHANNEL?

Mr. Gill asked if the realty firm was "merely a channel for Mr. Hooke" to buy the land. "I don't think that is correct," said Mr. Weber.

Weber Brothers bought the quarter-section farm in 1961 from Paul Kaplan who said Tuesday he sold it for $42,500 after an unsuccessful bid to have it subdivided. Weber Brothers then sold it to Mr. Hooke for $50,000.

He said he was offered a deal by L. A. Weber and Mr. Hooke whereby he would receive a treasury branch loan through Mr. Hooke's influence, and the loan would not have to be repaid if he transferred title to Weber Brothers. L. A. Weber has since died.

MONEY OWING

Under questioning Wednesday by Lucien Maynard, counsel for Mr. Hooke, Mr. Kaplan said experience he had since gained in the real estate business showed that either the vendor or the buyer could apply for mortgage funds.

Mr. Weber said the cash required for the purchase price was raised from his firm's "own resources."

Mr. Weber also said that at the time of the transaction Mr. Kaplan owed his firm about $15,000 to $20,000 and "the same or more" to Edmonton Finance Co. Ltd., a Weber Brothers sister firm.

ESTIMATED DRAFT

Mr. Weber said Edmonton Finance had obtained a judgment of "about $30,000" against Mr. Kaplan, a judgment which, he said, remained unsatisfied.

Mr. Kaplan said under questioning that an estimated debt of about $30,000 "could be right."

The inquiry under Mr. Justice W. J. C. Kirby of the Alberta Supreme Court was ordered after Mr. Turcott claimed that Mr. Hooke, then municipal affairs minister, and former provincial treasurer E. W. Hinesman had used, or attempted to use, their offices for personal gain.

Old Torture Still Killer

NAMES In the News

LA ROCHE, France—Police say a depressed literature teacher drank herself to death with water.

They said Genevieve Bourras, 37, went to her room and began a "deadly marathon" of drinking glass after glass of water. Doctors said she knew of a Middle Ages torture in which people were forced to drink water until their stomachs filled to capacity and the water reached their throats, overflowing into the lungs—a method causing asphyxiation and terrible pain.

SAN FRANCISCO — A U.S. court of appeals ordered actress Elizabeth Taylor removed as a defendant in an Oregon theatre company's suit against 20th Century Fox. The firm says her lurid romance with Richard Burton hurt the box office when its theatre was showing the movie Cleopatra, but the court said there was no connection between their "disporting" and Oregon.

Cleopatra

NEW YORK — Gov. Rockefeller squelched a growing demand that he seek the 1968 Republican presidential nomination by saying he's simply not interested. "Something happens in life and you lose ambition because you have a sense of fulfillment," he said. "I have no inner drive to get in this thing again."

VATICAN CITY — The Vatican said Pope Paul, who will be 70 in two weeks, may have to undergo surgery to correct an enlarged prostate gland. Doctors said he has "improved notably" from an inflammation in the urinary system but wouldn't say how long he must curtail his normal activities.

QUEBEC — Premier Johnson cancelled all engagements until mid-October to take a rest and to undergo extensive medical checks. He had phlebitis, a vein disease of the leg.

GORE BAY, Ont. — The Liberal association in Prince Minister Pearson's Algoma East riding took advantage of his first visit in more than a year.

to ask him to continue as their MP and prime minister through at least the next general election. Mr. Pearson, 70, didn't give a definite answer.

MONTREAL — Draftman Serge Amiel, 25, of Montreal, making his eighth visit to Expo, became its 40,000,000th visitor. He won a dinner at the Mexican pavilion and a chance to see any pavilions he wants today without having to stand in line.

BEVERLY HILLS — Dr. A. B. Weinstein, who put jackets on two of Frank Sinatra's front teeth after the singer's weekend fistfight in Las Vegas, said Sinatra "is usually nervous with me but he was just marvelous . . . he's that way when the chips are down."

RICHMOND, Va. — Black Power militant Ray Brown, wanted in Maryland on charges of inciting a riot, was jailed without bond to await extradition.

OTTAWA — Revenue Minister Heenan said the government will establish a committee of five prominent non-government Canadians to advise on executive pay rates in the civil service.

TRAIL — A coroner's jury ruled water bomber pilot Don Hill, 45, of White Rock, died in an accident of unknown cause Aug. 8 when his plane crashed on a firefighting mission.

SANTA MONICA — Singer Rosemary Clooney, 39, was awarded an interlocutory divorce decree by Judge Maryann Aggeler to end her 14-year marriage to actor Jess Freres, 53.

PENTACON — C. J. Hansen of North Salem, Oregon, was elected 1967 governor of the Pacific Northwest district of Kiwanis International.

PARIS — Hundreds of telegrams from all parts of the world flooded the post office of a suburban Mantes-La-Coquette Tuesday. They were all addressed to the same person: Maurice Chevalier, and they said the same thing: Happy Birthday. Chevalier celebrated his 78th birthday quietly.

LONDON — Indian swimmer Nishadra Ray, 27, has set a record by swimming from England to France in 10 hours, 21 minutes.

Pianist Wins Silver Medal

The 1967 Toronto Conservatory of Music silver medal for Grade 8 piano has been won by 14-year-old Becky Jay of 2654 Dene. Her mark of 88 was the highest awarded in her grade anywhere in the province. Her teacher is Mel A. M. Noel Smith.

B.C. Leads All Canada For Censor Leniency

VANCOUVER (CP) — When it comes to censoring films, B.C. is the most lenient province in Canada, says John Day, chairman of the Alberta film censor board.

Mr. Day told the seventh biennial conference of national film censors Wednesday that, in a survey of 281 films, B.C. gave a family classification to 151. The nearest competitor was New Brunswick at 138.

Of seven provinces reporting, Nova Scotia gave a family rating to 116, Ontario to 111, Manitoba to 97, Alberta to 89, and Saskatchewan to 80.

The three classifications of films are family, adult and restricted adult. Nova Scotia led the field in "restricted adult" films with 21, the survey showed. Alberta had 19, Manitoba 18, B.C. 17, Saskatchewan 16, New Brunswick 15 and Ontario 14.

Saskatchewan had the most "adult" labels, 91, while B.C. had the least, 20.

TRANSCENDENTAL MEDITATION

Transcend means going beyond ordinary thought and cognition.
Maharishi, one of the great teachers of mankind, has a systematic method of transcending through Deep Meditation. In the act of transcending, one activates the powerful levels of the mind—this brings to conscious awareness, more energy, more intelligence, more happiness and better health.

IT IS EASY to do, and results are profound. It is not a reclusive system.

SCIENTISTS the world over have been so impressed with the effects of meditation that they are collecting data and conducting experiments to find out why this simple technique brings refreshment to the nervous system, and peace and creativity to the mind.

NOT HYPNOSIS, not concentration, not contemplation, Deep Meditation is an innocent march of the mind from the conscious level to the great well of energy within, for it takes you to the source of thought itself—to pure intelligence, pure awareness. No faith is required for conscious mind to become consciousness.

A STORY AS FRESH AS THE GIRLS IN THEIR MINIS...

Like "A Patch of Blue" and "Lilies of the Field" before it, "To Sir, With Love" has that something special in excitement, in heart, in fun and in meaning...that makes it a picture for all to enjoy.

It's about today...about a teacher...and about the wild and turned-on teens of London who teach him the A,B,C's of real, raw living.

'Any Rain Money In Bank'

REGINA (CP)—Agriculture department spokesmen said Wednesday a two-day storm which dumped more than two inches of rain on Southern Saskatchewan has gone a long way toward saving the 1967 cattle and grain crops.

"Any rain we get from now on will be money in the bank," said one official.

However, the rain flooded several Regina streets where drainage systems couldn't handle the water.

Electric Car Secret

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—Ralph Nader, a critic of the U.S. auto industry, said here Wednesday night that General Electric Co. now has, "but is keeping secret," a highly advanced and realistic electric car.

Nader said the vehicle could be marketed within a year, and claimed GE was keeping it a secret because the petroleum and car industries are major subcontractors of General Electric.

Nader said the automobile would have a range of 200 miles and a top speed of 81 miles per hour, and could be recharged in about eight minutes.

He said the vehicle was powered by a hybrid fuel cell—a quick-charge battery developed by aerospace scientists.

He called the invention a "major breakthrough" in the electric car field and said it was far more advanced than the prototype now under study at Westinghouse.

He said the car will seat four persons. Its body is made of honeycombed aluminum.

Kitchen Burned

Oak Bay firemen extinguished a kitchen fire in a house at 2753 Somers Drive shortly after 4 p.m. Monday after an estimated $700 damage was done to the kitchen walls and cupboards.

Safe Stolen

A safe containing $150 was carried away from the Merry Mart Ltd. in the Esquimalt Shopping Plaza early Tuesday by thieves who gained entry to the building through a rear door.

British Woo Skilled Men

LONDON (CP)—An office in Toronto designed to promote a return to British jobs by technically skilled Britons now working in Canada will begin operating "in a few weeks and possibly sooner," a project official said Wednesday.

Britain wants to attract home "the highly-skilled creators rather than the sturdy phodders," he said.

The official, P. J. H. Fryer, is group-development director for Management Selection Ltd., the company which has been put in charge of the Canadian office.

Backing the bid to reverse the drain of British brains to Canada, the United States and elsewhere is Anthony Wedgwood Benn, Britain's minister of technology.

High taxes and a generally uncertain economic outlook may darken Britain's attractions for the talented emigrant contemplating a return, but Benn's department already has opened a brain-come-home office in New York and plans another for San Francisco.

London officials say not only Britain but all Europe is suffering from the westward drain of technological talent.

The British also want to encourage a move here by highly-skilled North Americans.

Rebuilt Bonaventure Sails Again

QUEBEC (CP)—Canada's 1966, for repairs estimated at another $6,000,000.

But when her commander, Capt. H. G. Falls, came to take delivery of the big vessel Tuesday, the cost was $5,000,000 more in repairs than originally expected and she had been in the yards four months longer than scheduled.

The Bonaventure, constructed in Britain for $28,000,000, was first brought into the Davie Shipbuilding yards in April, 1966, for repairs estimated at another $6,000,000.

complement of 1,200 sailors and officers, and travels at a maximum speed of 25 knots. She can carry 12 Tracker airplanes and six helicopters.

A spokesman said the high cost of operating and repairing the aircraft carrier means it will likely remain the only one of her type in Canada for some time to come.

Beulah Builds Forces

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Beulah began rebuilding her strength Wednesday after leaving Jamaica behind and churning across the Caribbean Sea in the direction of Central America.

Tamed from a fearsome hurricane to a simmering tropical storm when she collided with Haiti's towering mountains earlier this week, Beulah edged away from land.

GROWING AGAIN

But a hurricane-buster plane pilot penetrated Beulah Wednesday morning and reported she was beginning to grow again. Forecasters said they looked for a gradual increase in strength to continue.

Beulah left 18 dead on the tropical islands, ravaged ripening crops and left thousands homeless in the Dominican Republic and Haiti.

Beulah dealt the resorts of Jamaica a glancing blow with gales and tides five feet above normal before veering to the southwest at eight miles an hour.

Emergency Service Kept Busy

MONTREAL (CP) — A free emergency accommodation service set up five weeks ago by a major downtown hotel has so far placed 18,000 persons, a spokesman said Wednesday.

Donald Mumford, managing director of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel, said a daily record was established Monday with 848 persons directed to rooms.

The service was set up by the CNR-owned and Hilton-operated hotel after public criticism of Logexpo, the lodging service run by Expo.

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial authorities may be asked late this year to a conference with Ottawa and the retail trade to discuss consumer prices, particularly of drugs.

Informants said the idea of such a conference is being studied by Registrar-General John Turner, who is expected to head a federal consumers affairs department. Legislation on this department is to be placed before Parliament this fall.

An informant said a conference on consumer prices would be a natural step in the development of the proposed new department's activities.

The federal government has taken some steps, and is planning others, aimed at lowering the cost of drugs. A source said federal action is limited by provincial jurisdiction over retail trade so Mr. Turner hoped to meet provincial authorities and retailers to discuss this aspect of drug prices along with co-operative federal-provincial services to consumers.

The federal government has limited the 12-per-cent sales tax, levied on manufacturers sales, on drugs. Legislation has been drafted aimed at lessening the patents, trade marks and import protection afforded drug manufacturers as a further step to reduce drug prices.

Retailers generally were asked by the government and manufacturers to pass along to the consumer the benefit of the tax reduction. The federal government has no power to require action at the retail level.

Paris Gunmen Behind Raid?

LONDON (UPI) — Four gunmen from Paris were responsible for shooting up the American Embassy here last month, The Evening News reported Wednesday.

Scotland Yard said it knew nothing about the newspaper report which claimed special branch and London detectives had disclosed that the gang who poured bullets into the embassy were members of a Spanish-French extremist movement.

The Evening News report also said detectives believe the gunmen entered Britain two days before the shooting took place and left for the Continent by plane immediately after the incident. It claimed Scotland Yard had asked Interpol and the French Sureté to continue a search to identify the gunmen.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said the embassy had no exact knowledge of who had done the shooting, although there had been speculation the persons behind it might have been of Spanish origin because of certain misspellings in the mimeographed notes dropped outside the embassy.

SOME IN LONDON?

The Evening News said the Spanish-French movement called themselves the "Revolutionary Solidarity Movement" which was the signature on the notes.

It claimed Special Branch detectives have been asked to continue an investigation to determine whether the "movement" has agents among the Spanish colony in London.

Reds Cut Service In Forces

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union plans to cut military service by one year beginning in 1968, informed sources said Wednesday.

At present, draftees serve two years in the army, three in the air force and four in the navy. Next year the terms of service will be two, two and three.

The reduction was made possible because, during the 22 years since the war, the demographic imbalance caused by the death of 26,000,000 men has been eliminated.

There were at least 20,000,000 more women than men in Russia at the end of the war. Official statistics say there now is virtual parity.

St. Joseph's expects an early start on its coronary unit, which will also have four beds.

Each of the patients will be "wired for sound" with equipment for which the Victoria Kiwanis Club is trying to raise money. On Wednesday, the club had $6,000 of its $23,000 objective.

One of the items, a Pacemaker, is already being used at

Hearts Will Flutter in Serenity

By JOHN MATTERS

A hospital ward with single rooms, soft lights and an air of serene quietness and efficiency? Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's hospitals are planning such wards, to save the lives of people during the 48 to 72 crucial hours which follow an acute heart attack.

Work will start Monday on Royal Jubilee's coronary care unit, on the fourth floor of its east block, next to the intensive care centre.

Jubilee has been credited with saving at least one life.

The monitoring devices, which will immediately tell doctors and nurses when a patient's heart is in trouble, will be the most important ingredients of the coronary care units, described as the hospital phenomenon of this decade.

Electronic equipment, highly-trained doctors and nurses save lives but why the soft lighting and the hotel-like atmosphere which will cost the hospitals about $150,000 in renovations alone?

In former years, heart patients were often put into crowded, intensive care units, where the constant bustle and activity created stress for the patient — the last thing he needed in the critical hours after an attack.

Then, a group of heart patients was isolated in the same room. However, occasionally a heart would flutter wildly out of control or stop, a distressing situation for patients who were facing the same dangers.

In addition to its coronary unit, St. Joseph's is planning a sort of "halfway house" — a ward for people who leave the small rooms, usually after three days, before they go to the ordinary ward.

Behind each bed in the coronary unit will be monitors measuring the electrical discharge of the patient's heart muscle. These devices have oscilloscopes, tracing the streaks and blips of the heart, and a dial which shows the heart rate.

If the pointer rises or drops to marks indicating too rapid or too slow a heart beat, an alarm is triggered. This alarm will sound in the nursing station.

Within seconds, the nurse can begin external heart massage while another is wheeling in the electrical defibrillator. In two or three minutes a full medical team will be in attendance to get the heart going again.

Gold River Pulp Workers Vote to Sign First Pact

By WAYNE THOMAS

GOLD RIVER—Pulp mill workers have accepted company proposals and will sign their first contract at the new mill.

But they had to sacrifice their major demand in the instant town—a monthly cost-of-living bonus.

Recommended

The Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada Wednesday voted 64.3 per cent in favor of accepting the latest offer from Talsis Company.

The local's five-man negotiating committee, headed by president Orville Braaten, recommended acceptance. An earlier strike call was dropped after negotiations with the company at its Vancouver head office.

Contract voting was 162 in favor, 51 against.

$400 Now

The key demand by the union, a cost of living bonus to be paid at the rate of $30 each month, was thrown out by the company.

Replacing it was a $200 lump sum to be paid to each employee on the payroll at date of the contract signing.

Added to this lump sum will be another $200 to each employee as a road allowance.

Company and union officials will meet today or Friday to sign the 10-month contract, expiring June 30, 1968.

The contract includes:

- Provision for no increase in cost of rent at Heber Lodge, the single men's quarters.
- A free ambulance service to Campbell River for any sick worker or member of his family.
- No increase in cost for vehicles in the trailer court.
- Inclusion of clerks, office workers and other white-collar groups in the contract as union members.

The contract does not include a demand for the local for no increase in apartment rents or paying stevedoring rates comparable to the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

'Best Contract'

"We're pretty proud of this," said Mr. Braaten after the vote was tallied.

"From the records we know it's the best first-contract agreement signed up in any pulp mill in B.C."

He added though that the union is not satisfied.

"No, we're not satisfied, we never are. There are still problems in the town."

Mr. Braaten named the major trouble in the company town as "there being no choice."

He said a worker had to buy a new house or live in apartment, simply because there was no older-type accommodation available.

"No one can buy land either," he said.

Next Contract

"It's all owned by the instant municipality, and once outside the town, most of the land in Campbell River is under tree harvesting licenses."

"Still, the new shopping centre opens in the next day or so."

He added the union would be working on new contract proposals before the end of the year in preparation for when this latest one expired.

Spokesman Says Support Strong

Alberni Unanimous —Formula Improper

ALBERNI — It is with some regret that we do this, but we feel we have a responsibility to say where we stand. I believe it is significant that we have come to a unanimous opinion on the regional college matter.

The speaker was Mayor Fred Bishop, as he read a prepared statement issued by council.

"The statement read 'This council has long recognized to provincial governments for a new education cost-sharing formula to relieve the burden the need for regional colleges and vocational institutions."

"It has also supported the Union of B.C. Municipalities and the Canadian Federation of municipalities in demands on local property owners."

"We cannot accept the present cost-sharing formula for regional colleges as it places an increased hardship where it cannot be borne."

"We are not trying to use the natural leadership position of the school board, but we are all being asked to repeatedly make it make a decision."

"It is a matter of principle on the matter of financing," commented Ald. Bill Marshall, until recently a school principal, and now supervisor of intermediate instruction for the school district.

Mayor Bishop said "The B.C. Institute of Technology in Burnaby and the B.C. Vocational Schools are recognized by the federal and provincial governments as seats of higher learning and as such are supported wholly by these governments."

"Since regional colleges are also post-secondary institutions, financing them should be similar to that of universities."

"There are innumerable demands to be placed against the local tax dollar in the near future."

"Urban renewal, low-cost housing, hospital expansion and sewage treatment plants to name just a few."

"Therefore, in view of our strong feelings on the principle involved in financing of regional colleges, the council cannot endorse the plebiscite on Sept. 30."

Mayor Bishop added "We are not advising the public what it should do, but we feel our opinion and support of the UBCM should be made known to the public. It is then up to them to make their own decision on Sept. 30."

COURTENAY — The embattled regional college plan is being used as a "political football" by its opponents.

Claims one of the men in charge of publicizing the project.

Lytle Parks claimed support from the nine up-island school districts, with the exception of the most northern area, is "quite strong."

He said two men recently elected in Alberni Valley by-elections are "only opposed to the system of financing, not to the college."

He claimed Alberni city is now "coming around" to support the college.

However Alberni council Tuesday voted not to endorse the regional college.

Mayor George Hobson, who earlier said he had "questions" about the college, reported those questions have not been answered.

"Not to my entire satisfaction," he said.

Two Meetings

The mayor will not offer his support until he knows how local professional educators feel about the college plan, and if the school board was unanimous in support of the college.

He may get partial answers from the ranks of those opposing the college.

One of the speakers at a public meeting opposing the plan is a member of the school board, trustee Barry Anderson.

And the meeting was organized by a "local professional educator," Ald. Harry Harris.

The big public meeting against the project will be followed by a meeting set up by the school board.

The opposition meeting will be held Friday.

The school board has called its meeting for Sept. 20.

A meeting in Courtenay recently brought together some city aldermen, members of the school board and some members of the local college advisory committee.

Mr. Walker pointed out this district with its low tax base and high student population would gain great benefit at a relatively low cost.

He told the meeting the student population is 6,000, while the tax base of some $40,000,000 was "peanuts" compared to areas like Alberni and Campbell River.

Safety First

DUNCAN—A junior firearms course, designed to teach young people proper gun handling and safety, and organized here by the Cowichan Fish and Game Association, will be compulsory next year in B.C. schools.

The course was designed by the B.C. Wildlife Federation, in co-operation with the Recreation and Conservation department.

The course is basically designed to teach young people to handle guns safely at home, on the range, and in the field. It will start here early next month and last until mid-November.

Children will be taught the principles of good sportsmanship ecology (branch of biology dealing with living organism's habits), conservation of fish and wildlife, orientation, and above all—safety.

As well as classroom lectures, students will be given range instruction with rifles, pistols and traps.

There is no charge for the course, the expense being born in each case by the club.

It is described by club officials as a valuable community service. The YMCA, the Boy Scout movement and numerous schools have lent their weight to the program.

Duncan: No!

DUNCAN—Members of city council are against the regional college because of the method of financing.

Ald. Martin Lukettis said Wednesday "The regional college will be an added burden on the homeowners."

"I am not against education, but I don't agree with the method of financing."

"It appears to me it is a federal-provincial conspiracy to put the homeowners in a position when they no longer will be able to own a home."

"I feel it is the responsibility of the two senior governments to provide education for the people."

"I would like to note that the federal government at the present time contributes only 7.1 per cent towards education."

"And what about the old age pensioners?"

"They are very concerned because they are on fixed pensions and yet costs are going up continually."

Singapore Will Wait

LONDON (Reuters) — Six masked bandits drove off with two trucks containing $500,000 of cigarettes worth $100,000 from a London dock Wednesday.

The cigarettes were all awaiting export, mainly to Singapore.

Archbishop

Priest's Critics Scored

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Archbishop William Cousins Wednesday gave qualified support to Rev. James Groppi and criticized those who wage a "hate campaign" against the priest instead of working to cure Milwaukee's racial ills.

The spiritual leader of 700,000 Roman Catholics in the 10-county Milwaukee archdiocese said he has been under "great pressure" to defrock, suspend or send Groppi "to Africa."

CURE-ALL?

While admitting he does not agree with much of what the white priest does and says in his intensive civil rights activities, the archbishop asked: "Do you honestly believe Father Groppi's absence from the scene would somehow miraculously heal all wounds and cure all our racial ills?"

"The underlying cause of unrest... would go on plaguing us. They existed long before Father Groppi's advent," Cousins said.

Children Die

Parents Face Charges

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — The parents of four young children who died when fire swept through their house in South Fort George Sunday have been charged with abandoning them, police said Wednesday.

Mrs. and Mrs. George Laboucan, both about 40, are to appear in magistrate's court here Tuesday.

Police said their children, Gloria Ann, 6; Beverly, 5; Anita, 3; and John, 2, were alone in the house when it was destroyed by fire. Their bodies were found in the only bedroom of the small frame dwelling.

Police said that Mr. Laboucan was being held on an intoxication charge when the fire broke out and his wife could not be located.

The father was released from jail after the fire and was given a suspended sentence in magistrate's court Monday when he pleaded guilty to the intoxication charge.

Jailhouse Manners Attacked

TORONTO (CP) — Mayor Tom Davidson of suburban Hamilton believes people should be treated with respect even though they are in jail.

Mr. Davidson, on a tour of the jail with other Metropolitan Toronto officials, winced when a police man shouted "bitch" and a young woman cussed from a cell.

"There is no courtesy," she screamed, scolding court and police officials attempting to stop the group crowded conditions of the cells.

Just called Wallace. Why not Miss Wallace or Mrs. Wallace?"

To make matters worse for court and police officials, the crowded conditions they were attempting to show were not in evidence.

"By a strange coincidence it's been a light morning," said Ontario chief magistrate Arthur Klein.

Tory Boss in Ottawa Soon For Talks with Pearson

HALIFAX (CP) — Robert Stanfield plans to make his debut in Ottawa next week as national leader of the Progressive Conservative party.

Mr. Stanfield said Wednesday he will fly to the capital early next week and hopes to meet with Prime Minister Pearson.

"I hope to be able to discuss with the prime minister a possible date for a by-election," Mr. Stanfield said.

Mr. Stanfield has accepted an offer by Cyril Kennedy, PC member of Parliament for Colchester-Hants, to resign so he can contest the riding.

George Isaac Smith, 68, Mr. Stanfield's close friend and political ally, was sworn in Wednesday as Nova Scotia's 17th premier since Confederation.

Mr. Stanfield handed in his letter of resignation as premier Tuesday. This and the formal letter of acceptance were officially read by Lieutenant-Governor M. P. MacKenzie before the investiture ceremony.

Stanfield Woods Roblin

HALIFAX (CP) — Robert Stanfield telephoned Maritime Premier Doug Roblin Wednesday and urged him to enter federal politics.

"We are going to meet in the near future to discuss the matter further," the former Nova Scotia premier said.

Talks Revived

OTTAWA (CP) — Negotiations in the four-week-old Great Lakes shipping strike resumed late Wednesday afternoon after union and management teams spent an hour in talks with Labor Minister Nicholson.

Fatal Fad

Student Sniffs Chill of Death

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP) — A bizarre experiment, apparently used by high schoolers to "get high," has taken the life of a Medford youth.

An autopsy disclosed Wednesday that Paul McCuan, 18, died after breathing the fumes from a cocktail glass chiller.

Dr. A. Erin Merkel, the

Jackson County medical examiner, said the device, sold under a variety of brand names, releases a cold jet of carbon dioxide which puts a frosty coating on the drinking glass. Some use nitrous oxide, he said.

McCuan had used an empty, threaded spool to trigger the chiller and a plastic sack to collect the fumes.

Life Insurance Firms Pledge Slum Aid

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — The U.S. life insurance industry announced Wednesday it would invest $1,000,000,000 to improve housing and create jobs in Negro ghettos and other slum areas in American cities.

Under the plan, loans will be made through programs in which the federal housing administration insures mortgages in "high-risk (risk-hit) areas" and at relatively low interest rates.

TV Crew Trapped in Anti-Pirate Ploy

If You Wish for Song of Sea...

LONDON (CP) — A salty drama dressed up with touches of Gilbert and Sullivan, freedom of the press, bureaucracy and the Flying Dutchman was being played in the English Channel Wednesday to the delight of much of Britain.

It hinged about the efforts of a valiant crew from Granada Television to board the pirate radio ship Caroline

South in the face of such hardships as the Maritime Broadcasting Offences Act, seasickness and even alcohol drought.

The good ship Caroline, off Harwich, is a defiant holdout against the legislation banning unauthorized pop-playing stations and making it an offence to give aid or comfort to their crews.

For 24 hours the Granada brigade bobbed around with a view to recording songs on the ship.

Marchand Tells Grit 'Thinkers'

Time to Find Out Who's for Canada

QUEBEC (CP) — Manpower Minister Jean Marchand said Wednesday night it is "high time" to find out "who rejects Canada and who accepts it."

"We cannot tinker indefinitely between consent and refusal," he told Quebec members of the federal Liberal party. "For our part, the choice is made and we are resolved to play on the Canadian team."

Mr. Marchand, addressing the opening session of a Liberal "thinkers' conference" in nearby Montmorency, said the first century of Confederation has included "a great number of injustices" toward French-speaking Canadians, "from the hanging of Louis Riel to the English-speaking domination of the federal civil service."

DANGEROUS GAME

"But," he said, "it is playing an extremely dangerous game to use more or less distant historical events as a basis for proposing more or less radical transformations which have nothing to do with the welfare of citizens and could even compromise it."

The "injustices" of yesterday were being replaced by policies favorable to French-Canadians.

Among the encouraging signs were the decision of Ontario to include French-language secondary schools in its education system; the promise of the federal government to extend French-language radio and television networks across the country; and the statement by Justice Minister Trudeau that it would be desirable to have the right to speak French anywhere in Canada guaranteed by the constitution.

BETTER IN CANADA

Mr. Marchand said Quebec's future is better assured within Canada than it would be by a secessionist adventure, and called for an end to the struggle between the federal and Quebec governments.

"The idea of a struggle between federal and provincial members makes no sense in a federal state, because each level of government works in a fundamentally different jurisdiction."

It was inevitable that there would be clashes, misunderstandings and differences of opinion between the two levels of government, but these should not be aggravated or exploited for partisan purposes.

CITIZENS PAY

"If this happened, 'either the cohesion of Canada will be shattered or the governments will be overcome by paralysis, and in either case the ordinary citizens will pay for the damage.'"

Turning to the question of a particular status for Quebec within Confederation, the minister said the term must be defined before it can be discussed.

"It cannot be said that the idea of a particular status is unacceptable... but the debate for and against particular status, couched in vague and general terms, leads nowhere."

The conference continues until Sunday, with study sessions closed to press and public.

New Job For Hellyer

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Paul Hellyer is expected to take over the transport portfolio next week, informed sources said Wednesday. Mr. Hellyer and his aides declined comment.

Transport Minister Fichet, 65, is resigning from the cabinet to become chief of the new transportation commission.

Informants said Associate Defence Minister Leo Cadieux, 50, may take over the defence portfolio.

For Quebec

Education Aid From France Will Balloon

QUEBEC (CP) — Education Minister Alain Peyrefitte of France announced Wednesday night that France will multiply its aid to Quebec by 10 times in three years.

Mr. Peyrefitte told a press conference France would multiply by 10 the 1967 amount of French aid given under the Franco-Quebec education and cultural agreements signed in 1965.

He gave a few examples of areas in which France is going to increase its aid, but said he would have to give between 20 and 25 examples to exhaust the possibilities envisaged.

TEACHERS RESERVOIR

Mr. Peyrefitte said the number of scholarships France provides for Quebec students — about 50 this year — will be increased to 1,000 within three years.

France was thinking of creating what he called a reservoir of teachers available to Quebec according to the province's needs.

He also said two Franco-Quebec

Chinese Warn of Air Raids

Shells Fly Again

GANGTOK, Sikkim (UPI) — Heavy artillery and mortar duelling erupted anew between Indian and Chinese troops in a Himalayan mountain pass and a Chinese radio broadcast Wednesday night threatened the use of air power in the border battle.

"None of you will survive an air attack by us," the Chinese warning said.

Networks Face Strike Threat

NEW YORK (UPI) — The threat of a strike by technicians against two major radio and television networks, ABC and NBC, was renewed Wednesday when a union official predicted final management settlement offers would be rejected.

A blackout was immediately ordered in Gangtok, the Sikkim capital only 15 miles from the 14,300-foot high battle zone. Casualties mounted on both sides as the fighting entered its fourth day after a brief cessation Tuesday.

Another Peking report this morning accused Indian troops of "continuous" shelling of Chinese frontier installations beginning at 4 a.m. Wednesday. It said Indian "military provocations were instigated" by the United States and the Soviet Union.

CIVILIANS OUT

Sikkim King Chogyal Palden Thondup Namgyal ordered all civilians in and around Nathula Pass to evacuate the area. His wife, former New York debutante Hope Cooke, stayed in New Delhi.

Before the new shooting Wednesday more than 130 persons, including civilians, were reported killed or wounded in the long-range artillery and mortar duels.

BORDER SKIRMISH

The king said the nature of the fighting was purely a border skirmish.

"There is up to now nothing to suggest that either side wants it to develop into a major offensive," he told UPI.

Informal sources in New Delhi expressed the belief that Peking was not planning to launch a major offensive and risk being branded an aggressor by attacking a small, sleepy country such as Sikkim.

Railmen Strike

LONDON (UPI) — A signalmen's wildcat strike spread to other railway workers Wednesday in Britain's state-run rail system. British Railways announced 243 passenger trains cancelled since Tuesday night.

Chinese Grab Mission

HONG KONG (UPI) — China Wednesday confiscated the British diplomatic mission building in Shanghai, charging it had been used as a "base for aggression" against China for more than 100 years.

(A British foreign office spokesman in London said Britain was protesting the takeover of the premises and reserved Britain's right to the property and compensation.)

FIVE JAILED

The Shanghai Radio announcement came as Hong Kong authorities sentenced five Communist reporters, including one from Peking's official New China news agency, to jail terms. The jail terms were meted out in defiance of a Chinese demand the newsmen be released.

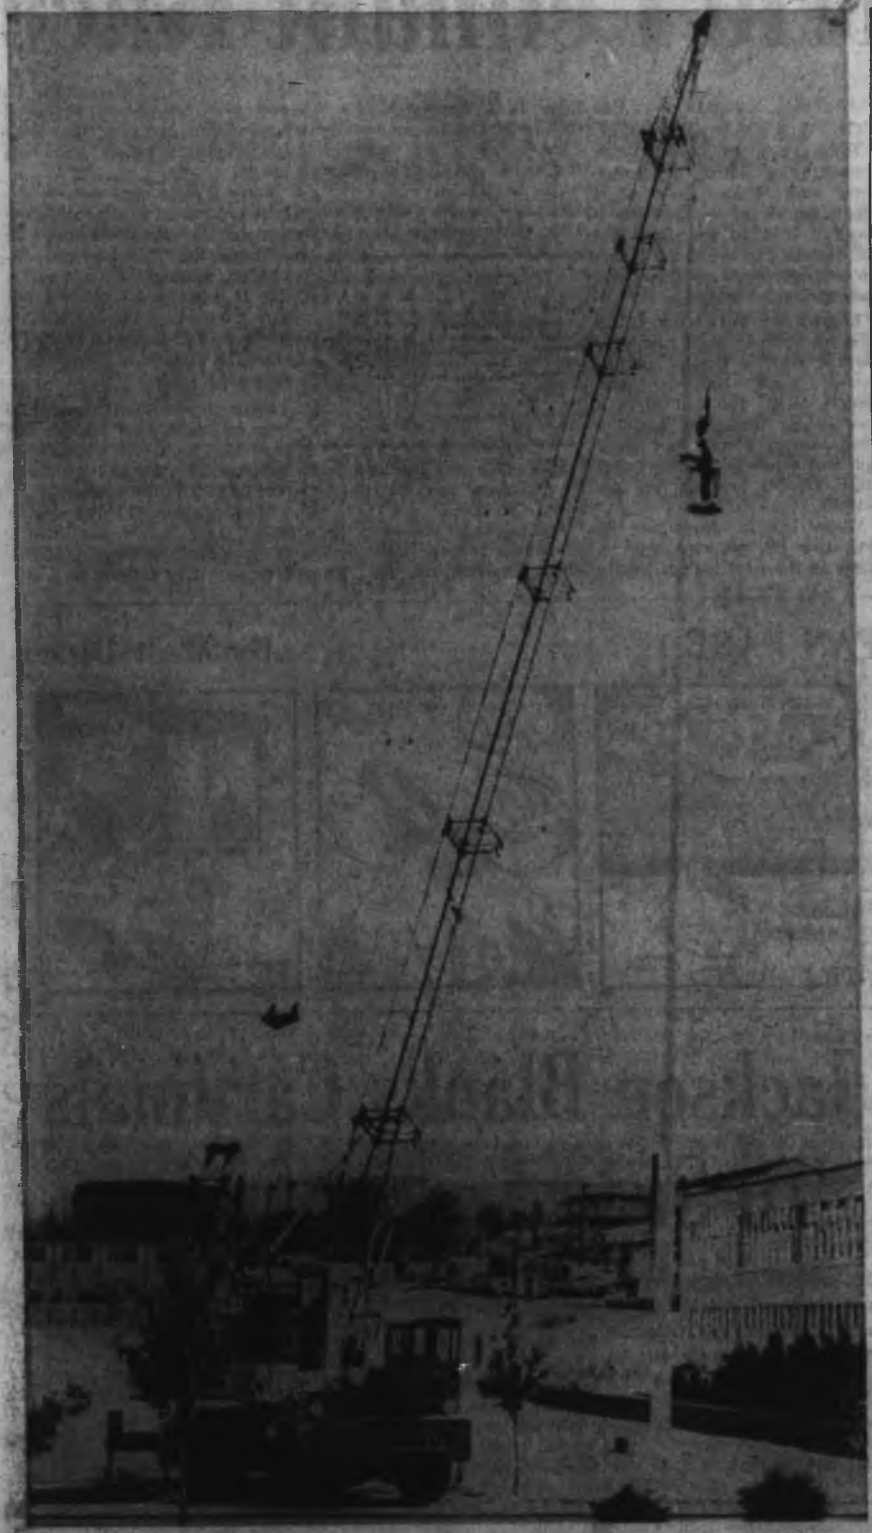

The sentencing last month of a group of Communist editors, publishers and printers in face of similar China threats led to the sacking of the British consulate in Peking.

Shanghai Radio broadcast the confiscation of the British mission building and said a large number of "revolutionaries" sang the Chinese national anthem as the five-star Chinese flag was raised over the British building.

It said the building, located in

Morton Chides Business

Progress Vital

DUNCAN — Merchants who oppose progressive measures like new sewers are cutting their own throats, suggested North Cowichan Reeve Donalt Morton Wednesday.

In a speech to the chamber of commerce, he said everything comes back to dollars and cents in the end.

He pointed to rejection of the sewer project in the southeast of the municipality. Reeve Morton claimed some merchants helped defeat the project.

Rejection of the project slowed development of apartments and subdivisions. "This meant less business for merchants in the area."

The reeve told the chamber the whole of Lakes Road to Wicks Road will be given a sewer system which could conceivably quadruple the population of the area.

"This in turn would increase business."

He explained under the local improvement initiative plan, the sewer project which was turned down can be installed without a vote, unless the opposition is 50 per cent of all people involved.

Morton

"The completion of this project would bring in business beyond our guesses," he said. "The people who get the sewer pay for the service, but the businessmen get the benefit."

He added the proposed water system whereby the municipality would buy bulk water from the city of Duncan, was turned down twice by the taxpayers.

A cheaper method had to be found.

He said "water and sewage are two big items which cannot be got around if an area is to develop."

With regard to the amalgamation of services between Duncan and North Cowichan through a joint water and sewer board, Reeve Morton pointed out North Cowichan has been proposing such a plan for the past five years.

"We have been working on this for years, but I guess nobody believed us," he said.

Reeve Morton stated under amalgamation he felt the most important items in order of importance were sewers, water, recreation, and general planning.

"We are not satisfied, we never are. There are still problems in the town," Mr. Branten named the major trouble in the company mushroom town as "there being no choice."

He said a worker had to buy a new house or live in apartment,

Safety First

DUNCAN — A junior firearms course, designed to teach youngsters proper gun handling and safety, and organized here by the B.C. Wildlife Federation, in co-operation with the Recreation and Conservation department.

A similar course is underway in Victoria, organized by the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association.

Known as the Junior Firearms Safety Training Program, the course is open in Duncan to boys and girls over the age of 12.

The course was designed by the B.C. Wildlife Federation, in co-operation with the Recreation and Conservation department.

The course is basically designed to teach young people to handle guns safely at home, on the range, and in the field. It will start here early next month and last until mid-November. Children will be taught the principles of good sportsmanship, ecology (branch of biology dealing with living organism's habits), conservation of fish and wildlife, orientation, and above all—safety.

As well as classroom lectures, students will be given range instruction with rifles, pistols and traps.

There is no charge for the course, the expense being born in each case by the club.

It is described by club officials as a valuable community service. The YMCA, the Boy Scouts movement and numerous schools have lent their weight to the program.

A booklet prepared for the program stresses regular cleaning of weapons, careful handling while in the field, making sure of a target ("A good hunter will pass up an outstanding trophy rather than take the slightest risk of being wrong"), unloading guns before getting into cars or boats, and proper sighting-in of firearms, 150 to 200 yards for deer and 35 to 50 yards for gophers.

The booklet stresses a hazard for which hunters should be prepared—becoming lost.

Unless he knows the ground, a hunter is wise to carry a map, and when he enters the area, he should note distinctive landmarks such as mountains, hills, streams and roads, the booklet advises.

Gold River Pulp Workers Vote to Sign First Pact

By WAYNE THOMAS

GOLD RIVER—Pulp mill workers have accepted company proposals and will sign their first contract at the new mill.

But they had to sacrifice their major demand in the instant town—a monthly cost-of-living bonus.

The Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada Wednesday voted 64.3 per cent in favor of accepting the latest offer from Talmi Company.

Recommended

The local five-man negotiating committee, headed by president Orville Branten, recommended acceptance.

An earlier strike call was dropped after negotiations with the company at its Vancouver head office.

Contract voting was 162 in favor, 81 against.

The key demand by the union, a cost of living bonus to be paid at the rate of $50 each month, was thrown out by the company.

$400 Now

Replacing it was a $200 lump sum to be paid to each employee on the payroll at date of the contract signing.

Added to this lump sum will be another $200 to each employee as a road allowance.

Company and union officials will meet today or Friday to sign the 30-month contract, expiring June 30, 1968.

The contract includes:

• Provision for no increase in cost of rent at Fisher Lodge, the single men's quarters.

• A free ambulance service to Campbell River for any sick worker or member of his family.

• No increase in cost for vehicles in the trailer court.

• Inclusion of clerks, office workers and other white-collar groups in the contract as union members.

The contract does not include a demand by the local for no increase in apartment rents or paying stevedoring rates comparable to the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

'Best Contract'

"We're pretty proud of this," said Mr. Branten after the vote was tallied.

"From the records we know it's the best first-contract agreement signed up in any pulp mill in B.C."

He added though that the union is not satisfied.

"We're not satisfied, we never are. There are still problems in the town," Mr. Branten named the major trouble in the company mushroom town as "there being no choice."

He said a worker had to buy a new house or live in apartment, simply because there was no older-type accommodation available.

Next Contract

"It's all owned by the instant municipality, and once outside the town, most of the land to Campbell River is under tree farm licences."

"Still, the new shopping centre opens in the next day or so."

He added the union would be working on new contract proposals before the end of the year in preparation for when this latest one expired.

We Want Horne Lake Road Say Alberni Motorists

PORT ALBERNI—The signatures of 1,694 people on a 50-foot ribbon of paper will be sent to Highway Minister Phil Gaglardi and MLA Dr. Howard McDiarmid, urging work commence on the Horne Lake Road.

were signed at a Horne Lake Road Boosters committee stall at the fall fair.

Said Ald. George McKnight, chairman, "No trouble was experienced in getting signatures."

"People came up and demanded 'Where do I sign' and when asked for their support said 'You bet I'll sign,'" he added.

Spokesman Says Support Strong

Alberni Unanimous —Formula Improper

ALBERNI — It is with some regret that we do this, but we feel we have a responsibility to say where we stand. I believe it is significant that we have come to a unanimous opinion on the regional college matter.

The speaker was Mayor Fred Bishop, as he read a prepared statement issued by council.

The statement read "This council has long recognized adly we had to make a decision.

"It is a matter of principle on the matter of financing," commented Ald. Bill Marshall, until recently a school principal, and now supervisor of intermediate instruction for the school district.

Mayor Bishop said "The B.C. Institute of Technology in Burnaby and the B.C. Vocational Schools are recognized by the federal and provincial governments as seats of higher learning and as such are supported wholly by these governments."

"Since regional colleges are also post-secondary institutions, financing them should be similar to that of universities."

"There are innumerable demands to be placed against the local tax dollar in the near future:

"Urban renewal, low-cost housing, hospital expansion and sewage treatment plants to name just a few."

"Therefore, in view of our strong feelings on the principle involved in financing of regional colleges, the council cannot endorse the plebiscite on Sept. 30."

Mayor Bishop added "We are not advising the public what it should do, but we feel our opinion and support of the B.C. should be made known to the public. It is then up to them to make their own decision on Sept. 30."

Duncan Against

Duncan city council Wednesday voted to oppose the regional college, because of the method of financing. (Story Page 14) to provincial governments for a new education cost-sharing formula to relieve the burden the need for regional colleges and vocational institutions.

"It has also supported the Union of B.C. Municipalities and the Canadian Federation of municipalities in demands on local property owners."

"We cannot accept the present cost-sharing formula for regional colleges as it places an increased hardship where it cannot be borne."

"We are not trying to use the natural leadership position of the school board, but we are all being asked to repeat-

COURTENAY — The embattled regional college plan is being used as a "political football" by its opponents, claims one of the men in charge of publicizing the project.

Lyle Parks claimed support from the nine up-island school districts, with the exception of the most northern area, is "quite strong."

He said two men recently elected in Alberni Valley by-elections are "only opposed to the system of financing, not to the college."

He claimed Alberni city is now "coming around" to support the college.

However Alberni council Tuesday voted not to endorse the regional college.

Mayor George Hobson, who earlier said he had "questions" about the college, reported, those questions have not been answered.

"Not to my entire satisfaction," he said.

The mayor will not offer his support until he knows how local professional educators feel about the college plan, and if the school board was unanimous in support of the college.

He may get partial answers from the ranks of those opposing the college.

One of the speakers at a public meeting opposing the plan is a member of the school board, Trustee Barry Anderson.

Two Meetings

And the meeting was organized by a "local professional educator," Ald. Harry Harris.

The big public meeting against the project will be followed by a meeting set up by the school board.

The opposition meeting will be held Friday.

The school board has called its meeting for Sept. 20.

A meeting in Courtenay recently brought together some city aldermen, members of the school board, and some members of the local college advisory committee.

Mr. Walker pointed out this district with its low tax base and high student population would gain great benefit at a relatively low cost.

He said the meeting the student population is 6,000, while the tax base of some $40,000,000 was "peanuts" compared to areas like Alberni and Campbell River.

Island Scene

School trustee at Nanaimo, Doug McKellar, who originally pushed for formation of a regional recreation body, watched proudly from the gallery at the first meeting of the new regional district board Tuesday night. The 11 members of the board, which will advise on public services and recreation, individually congratulated Mr. McKellar for his early work and for attending each meeting before the official opening ceremony.

Robert McKellar, chairman of the Cumberland central project, was present for the unveiling of the plaque commemorating the event. Also attending was Laurie Wallace, B.C. centennial chief.

'Nauseating Innuendo'

Duncan IWA Slams CLC Letter

DUNCAN — The battle may be over, but Duncan IWA is still waging the war against the B.C. Federation of Labor.

Vice-president Fernie Viala said four suspended IWA locals have won the first round in a dispute with the federation.

But "We were nauseated at the innuendo in the covering letter, in which it was suggested an attempt was made to destroy the International Woodworkers of America."

The four, including Duncan, were suspended for making a press release that contained statements about CLC official Joe Morris.

Mr. Viala also said the Duncan Local learned about the lifting of the suspension in the press.

"We were surprised the report went across the whole country before we received a copy."

"As far as I'm concerned, and the feeling of the membership is the same, there will be no apology."

Mr. Viala said he could not comment on the lifting of the suspension before Local membership makes a decision at its Saturday meeting in Duncan.

He said in the letter it was stated "In its deliberations the executive committee was struck by the similarity in the current situation and that of 1948 when as a prelude to the efforts by certain elements in B.C. to destroy the IWA, scandalous attacks were made on congress officers."

Mr. Viala described this comparison as outrageous, damaging to the labor movement, unfounded and absolutely untrue.

He said in 1948 communist agitators created the short-lived WIUC, a group which broke away from the IWA.

Mr. Viala stressed the present situation is completely different.

Open and justified criticism of elected labor movement officials is no more than a sign of the democratic attitude cherished by organized labor.

He said it is much more desirable to air differences openly and frankly, than to sweep unpleasant occurrences under the carpet.

American Woman Fights Famine of Mind in India

OTTAWA (CP) — A school for teachers set up by the widow of an American bishop is helping the villagers of India fight famine of the mind.

Mrs. Welthy Fisher, 83, began the school in central India when she was 72. About 5,000 teachers have been trained there, bringing literacy to 500,000 Indians.

In Ottawa to visit friends, Mrs. Fisher said 85 per cent of the people in underdeveloped countries live in villages untouched by any of the advances of the 19th or 20th centuries.

"They have nothing. The hospitals, universities and technical schools are all in the big cities."

A stout grey-haired woman with an efficient but kindly manner, Mrs. Fisher's first choice of a career was grand opera. While studying in New York City at the turn of the century she attended a missionary meeting at Carnegie Hall and within a year had decided to give up singing and head a girls' school in China.

During the First World War she served in France with the YWCA War Work Council and afterwards travelled the world visiting and lecturing.

At 44 she married Frederick Fisher, Methodist Episcopal bishop of India and Burma. At his death after 14 years of marriage she began travelling and lecturing again.

When she was 70, Mahatma Gandhi asked her to help the people in his villages. Literacy House was her answer to his request.

The school she started on a shoestring now has an annual budget of $100,000 supplied by government, charitable foundations and private donations.

A Canadian business women's sorority, Beta Sigma Phi, is a contributor and the Junior Farmers of Ontario have promised support for a new agricultural course for young Indian farmers.

The 20-acre campus near Lucknow has accommodation for 120 men and women, a theatre, library and interdenominational chapel.

One project of the school is to train recognized Indian authors in writing books and plays for the new reader with a small vocabulary.

The books, including titles like What Can You Make from Bamboo and How to Keep Your Child Well, to villages by jeep-library or with book men on bicycles.

Another part of the school teaches use of educational puppetry, pictures, films and demonstrations. In a third project, village head men are given a 10-day course in community life.

Three universities have given Mrs. Fisher honorary doctorates for her education work, but she says her proudest award is the $10,000 prize given by the government of Malaya for her contribution to literacy in Asia.

She says her North American visit is not a holiday but an economic necessity.

"I don't have time for a vacation. I come back every so often with my begging bowl."

Ontario Honeymoon

Following a honeymoon in Ontario, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Howard Hermiston will make their home at Lake Cowichan. The bride, the former Janice Louise Hunter, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hunter, 2607 Shelbourne Street. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hermiston, New Liskeard, Ont.

Oak Bay United Church was decorated with candlelight and multi-colored gladiolus for the double-ring service conducted by the Dr. D. B. Sparling.

Given in marriage by her father and mother, the bride wore a floor-length gown of peau de sole, styled in empire lines accented with lace and lace flowers cascading down the long court train. Her veil of illusion net misted to shoulder length from lace petals outlined in pearls and she carried yellow roses and white carnations cascading from her white Bible.

Maid of honor, Miss Donna Dunnaway, bridesmaids, the Misses Gloria Jean Della Savia, cousin of the bride and Gail Dunnaway were gowned alike in orchid-colored peau de sole dresses styled on empire lines and accented by lace. They carried bouquets of white carnations tipped with the same orchid coloring. Their orchid-colored net headpieces were held by petals of peau de sole.

Mr. Ray Sears was best man and ushering were Mr. John Hunter, bride's brother, and Mr. John Thomas.

Mr. Bruno (Dol) Savia proposed the toast to his niece at the reception which followed in Henderson Hall.

For travelling in the bride chose a two-piece suit in robin's egg blue complemented by white accessories.

Mrs. Blair Named Regent

A birthday cake for a member, Mrs. G. Moody, who was celebrating her 93rd birthday, was a highlight of a tea following the meeting of Florence Nightingale Chapter, IOOE, held at the home of Mrs. W. R. Roskelley.

At the business meeting Mrs. William Blair was nominated regent to succeed Mrs. W. W.

Walsh, who has left to live in Vancouver.

Mrs. Cyril G. Baker was named first vice-regent and Mrs. W. J. H. Patterson publicity convener.

Miniskirts Taboo For Indonesians

JAKARTA (Reuters) — Indonesian mothers are telling their daughters not to wear miniskirts with hemlines about seven inches above the knee.

Some women's organizations also have joined in the criticism.

The influential Indonesian Women's Action Front KAWI urged Indonesian girls to defend the national identity by wearing national dress at public and official functions.

"Indonesian girls," KAWI declared, "look funny in miniskirts."

A wave of criticism followed the recent appearance on the state-run television of pretty young Indonesian singer, Ida Rochjan, in a miniskirt.

In some cities, miniskirts were banned by the authorities, and in Bandung, capital of West Java, police have been rounding up girls wearing miniskirts and warning them to appear properly dressed.

In general, Indonesian women cling to their national costumes as a symbol of their cultural past.

Although girls wear Western style uniforms in school and Western clothes as students, they tend to switch to the national costume as they grow older.

This consists of a "kain," or tight wrap-around skirt reaching to the lower calf, and a "kebaya," or lacy long-sleeved jacket, close-fitting and reaching to the waist.

The kain is made of batik, an Indonesian cloth dyed in intricate patterns by a hand-applied wax process. The designs and the way in which a kain is worn can indicate from which region a woman comes.

High-heeled sandals and a scarf worn on one shoulder complete the usual kain-kebaya costume.

The scarf was once used as a veil in Moslem Indonesia. Often it is hand-woven from fine yarns interlaced with gold and silver threads.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

MONTREAL, September 14th — Saving can be easy... when you do it THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA way. For long-range savings, there's the 6-year Savings Certificate that pays you $100 for every $75 you invest. If chequing privileges don't interest you, there's the new "Blue Chip" savings account that pays a full 4½% interest rate. Then, of course, there's the regular savings account at 3½% interest, with regular chequing privileges. Whenever plan you choose, pick up a free copy of the new Scotiabank Budget Book at your nearest branch. You'll find it will really help you plan your savings... and spending... more wisely.

I FOUND A LOVELY SURPRISE AT THE SUPERMARKET the other day... LIFEBOUY deodorant soap — one of my long-time favourites — has been substantially reduced in price! I learned that this is a permanent price reduction and applies to all packs, colours and sizes. Just think how this will help balance your weekly budget. To my mind, Lifebuoy is one of the finest soaps I've ever used. It's wonderfully pleasant-smelling — and it offers protection you can really depend on since Lifebuoy contains an active ingredient that inhibits bacterial growth up to 48 hours! No wonder Lifebuoy is called "the world's most refreshing deodorant soap".

ANY WAY YOU LOOK AT IT, an Honest Wash is the best policy! With the Honest Wash you can rid your clothes of bath-tub-rings of the washing-machine, that dirty gray film which builds up and clings to your fabrics wash after wash. The Honest Wash leaves your clothes white, fresh smelling, naturally soft and honestly clean. Just add CALGON® water conditioner along with your detergent to your next wash and see your clothes come honestly clean. You'll find, as I have, that whenever you use Calgon you need less detergent — ¼ to ½ your usual amount. Next washday, instead of disguising the problem with bleach and whiteners, etc., let Calgon get rid of it... honestly.

IF YOUR DAUGHTER will be away from home at school or college, it's always a good idea to send her off with a bottle of CORRECTOL® in her luggage. You never know when irregularity might become a problem and cut down her energy and enthusiasm for her studies or school activities. CORRECTOL is a gentle-acting laxative, prepared by Pharmaco (Canada) Ltd. specially for a woman's delicate system. Correctol combines a mild waste-softening action with just enough of a laxative to give regularity a start. The prompt unburied relief it provides makes it ideal for women of all ages — safe for use even during menstruation or following childbirth. Pick up a supply of CORRECTOL for your daughter and yourself at your favourite drug counter.

PEACE OF MIND... that's what you will enjoy when SUPERCALAL® CREAM is in your medicine cabinet. I've found, for my family, it is the only all-purpose first aid cream and it is both antiseptic and anesthetic. It's wonderful to be able to recommend a product that takes care of those emergencies that arise in every household — minor cuts — skin irritations (even acne and diaper rash). And I have found Supercalal Cream has the most soothing and relaxing effects when applied generously and gently to tired and aching feet! Do get Supercalal All-Purpose Antiseptic Cream, available at drugstores everywhere.

STILL THINK SALT IS JUST A SEASONING? ... then you haven't heard how handy WINDSOR SALT is for other uses around your home. Personal hygiene, for instance. One teaspoon of Windsor Salt in a glass of warm water makes an excellent mouthwash — or gargle. As a dandy dentifrice that helps whiten teeth, harden gums and sweeten the breath, I use it as it comes from the box. If you're hesitant about having a salt box in the bathroom, the Windsor Salt people have come up with a charming idea — a decorative apothecary jar, imprinted in black with the word "Salt" in old English script. This can be yours for just $1.00, plus the Windsor "W" from the two pound box as proof of purchase, mailed to Windsor Salt, P.O. Box 6326, Montreal.

Garden Notes

Pears Are Delicate

by M. V. CHESNUT

The hardest part of growing pears is knowing when to pick them. No fruit suffers so badly from poor timing, and no fruit is so rewarding when you happen to hit it on the nose. In fact, one 17th century writer, rhapsodizing over a pear called Doyenne du Comice, claimed it is necessary to sit up all night to catch and pick it at its absolute peak of flavor!

I don't suppose any modern gardener could be persuaded to go to this extreme, but there is no doubt whatever that many home-grown pear crops are lacking in flavor because they were picked at the wrong stage of growth. Judging by my mail, many novice gardeners fall into the common error of waiting for color to appear in the pear before they pick it; such "sleepy" pears are mealy and almost tasteless. There is another type of meanness that comes from picking too soon, but this is usually accompanied by a certain amount of shriveling, for the pear hasn't attained its full moisture content. Large-scale commercial fruit growers check readiness for picking with a scientific instrument that measures the hardness of the fruit. For the home gardener, a rough-and-ready test is to lift a pear on the flat of your hand up to and slightly above the horizontal. If the stalk comes away from the tree without any pulling or tugging, the fruit is ready.

It must be remembered, of course, that all the fruits on any one tree are not necessarily ready for picking at the same time, and the clearing of a tree may have to be spread over a period of several weeks. If a pear stalk doesn't part readily from the tree when tested, lower it gently and try again a few days later.

While a few of the early kinds are good to eat right off the tree, most of the mid-season and late pears require storage to bring out their full flavor. Storage should be dark and cool, with ideal temperature between 40 and 50 degrees, and the fruits should be examined frequently for color changes. As soon as the natural color of the variety is seen—usually the green base changes to yellow and brightens the overlaid pink or red—that particular pear is brought upstairs into room temperature for final ripening. Connoisseurs claim this final stage is VERY important, for unless a pear can complete its ripening in a temperature of 60 to 70 degrees, the full flavor and aroma is not there.

It isn't easy to know just when to transfer a pear from cool storage into warmth, for some kinds remain green and do not show any pronounced color change. With these, a pretty good guide is a slight softening of the flesh in the neck, near the stalk. I can't tell you how long to hold a pear at room temperature before eating it, as there are too many variable factors, but it should come very close to its flavor peak in 48 hours.

A well-finished pear has a bouquet as delicate and as satisfying as that of a good wine, but both flavor- and bouquet can be ruined by odors in the storage place. I remember one case where a neighbor's pears were rendered almost inedible by mothballs, and another where the taste came from rubber boots stored in the fruit cellar!

ART BUCHWALD Aids McNamara

A Wall for Gov. Romney

WASHINGTON — It is not being publicized at the moment, but Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara will soon announce a plan to build a "wall" around Gov. George Romney.

McNamara hopes the new barrier, which will consist of concrete barriers, barbed wire stories, and electronic monitoring devices, will slow down Romney's attacks on the Johnson administration's Vietnam policies.

An administration spokesman told me, "Romney has been laying down a barrage of false charges against the president and the secretary of defense, and he's been infiltrating the American electorate. We have no choice but to fire back."

"What about Romney's charges that he was brainwashed in Vietnam?"

"Everyone knows that it is a violation of the Geneva Convention to brainwash a governor of the United States. All we've ever asked of a politician who visited Vietnam was his name, his rank and his serial number."

"But Romney said that he was brainwashed in Saigon two years ago by some very experienced people."

"That's just Republican propaganda. We're willing to open our briefings to the International Red Cross at any time to prove that we treat Republican presidential candidates humanely and in accordance with the articles of war."

"Is it not possible that an overzealous interrogator in Saigon might use methods that the White House does not know about or approve of?"

"There is that possibility, but we've investigated the Romney case thoroughly and both Gen. Westmoreland and former ambassador Lodge swear they never laid a finger on him."

"But aren't there more subtle ways of brainwashing somebody without touching him?"

"I suppose so. But the Johnson administration would never stoop to any of these. If we can't win over the opposition with the truth, then we feel we should resign."

"It's good to hear you say that," I said.

"Don't forget," the administration spokesman continued, "both President Johnson and Secretary McNamara have to shave every morning, and they could never look into a mirror and face themselves if they believed someone on their staff had lied to George Romney."

"I never thought of it that way," I admitted.

"Besides, we're trying to set an example for the people of South Vietnam; and if they caught us telling untruths to our own people, it would give them bad habits."

"That makes sense," I said.

"It will be a sorry day in American history if this administration resorts to falsehoods to get its story across about Vietnam."

"I think I'm going to cry," I said.

"I must admit that we've been tempted at times," he continued, "but then we thought of the millions and millions of little George Romneys throughout this country who believe in us and in what we are doing, and we decided that no matter what the cost, we would stick to the truth."

"What you have just said should be put to music."

"You can't imagine how it hurts the president when somebody like the governor of Michigan, and a Republican to boot, gets on television and says he has been brainwashed. It isn't the personal damage that worries him, nor is it the attack on his veracity. What bothers the president more than anything is that George Romney would introduce politics into a presidential campaign."

"I could only add, 'I wonder how Romney can shave in the morning!'"

Barbra Proves Difficult

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Barbra Streisand's search for perfection in everything reminds me of how Shirley Winters had everyone waiting up the wall when she first came to Hollywood. Even when meticulous director Willie Wyler is satisfied with a scene in Barbra's movie debut, Funny Girl, she sometimes is not and wants to do it over again. In her life, away from the cameras, Barbra is just as particular — a nice word for difficult.

A chum spotted her leaving a party with a photographer in pursuit. Barbra put her handbag in front of her face and covered everything. Of course, if her movie is a smash, all will be forgiven. If not... well, they have a cruel memory around here.

Isn't it interesting that George Hamilton dropped his gross agents at about the time Lynda Bird dropped George. It will be even more interesting to see how George's career holds up without all that lovely publicity. Working for him is the fact that he is not a bad actor and he is still good looking. But on what a fickle world we live in. In case you care, Albert Finney's secret ambition is to star in a musical comedy titled, Out on the Town.

Xavier Cugat is making good on his threat to make a bigger star of his present wife Charo, than he did for his previous one, Abba Lassa. Cugat mailed me a sheaf of rave reviews for the shows he put on with Charo in Spain and San Francisco. The girl is a smash and should be seen on Broadway if the critics were in their right-thinking minds when they sent in their glowing pieces.

The only American in Rex Harrison's film, A Flea in Her Ear, is Victor Young. Victor was flown in from Hollywood to play a Japanese. So right off the bat Victor breaks his ankle enjoying too much Paris night life. Until he recovers, a chubby Frenchman is standing in for him. The now chastened Mr. Young used to play Charlie Chan's Number One son.

Which reminds me, so many of the couples now "going" together will not make it to the altar — about fifty per cent. (Having written this, I can see them all rushing for the wedding ring). But will Eddie Fisher, the busy boy, marry Connie Stevens? Will Kim Novak become Mrs. Joel Thorne's Ditto for David Hemsley and Gayle Hunnicutt, and Natalie Wood and Richard Gregson? The men want to have fun and the girls want to get married. But not all of them. Kim and Natalie can buy and sell most of the men they meet. And it's not as though they have never been married. These two quite obviously believe that a miss is as good as a Mrs.

Bella Davri, whom Darryl Zanuck tried to make a big star, reportedly gatecrashed Sam Spiegel's yacht off Cannes and was politely ordered off. She might have left fast if someone had staked her to some gambling cash. They say she has lost a fortune at the tables.

A Sardonic Moral

A man I know slightly was picked up by a police squad car recently, while he was walking his dog through an alley. It seems that several excited spinners had reported a Peeping Tom in the neighborhood, and this man was gazing (quite innocently, I believe) into a kitchen window while waiting for his dog to consummate the purpose of his walk.

Invited into the police car for a chat, he produced his credentials, which showed that he was a gentleman of an exalted address, impeccable references, and — mightiest blow of all — a lofty connection with the legal profession.

The policemen's suspicion quickly melted into what approached geniality for them, and they sent him on his way with a smart salute and a hearty apology for having interrupted his stroll. Yet, as this man said to me subsequently, in relating the incident, suppose he had been a laborer, or, worst of all unemployed? Suppose that his credentials were meager or commonplace, his English not impeccable, his address undistinguished by anything except a number?

"I have no doubt," he shrugged, "that I would have spent a couple of painful hours, or maybe the whole night, in the police lockup. But why should the police assume that a man of station is less likely to be a Peeping Tom than an itinerant laborer? Why even assume that a lawyer is irreproachable on the side of law?—I myself have known one or two who committed greater transgressions than their clients."

I suggested that this lack of democratic spirit — while we observe the democratic form — may be partly responsible for the cynicism of the less fortunate members of our society toward that concept we call Justice. And it reminded me of a story — an amusing story, but not without its own sardonic moral.

On the opening night of a new play starring Gertrude Lawrence, her good friend, Noel Coward, entered a Western Union office to send her a joking telegram. He signed the wire: "Fiorello H. LaGuardia."

"Are you Mayor LaGuardia?" asked the message clerk. Coward confessed he was not. "We can't send it," then," said the clerk. "It's against the law." Coward scratched the name and put down his own.

"Are you Noel Coward?" asked the wide-eyed clerk. Coward produced his identification. "In that case, Mr. Coward," said the clerk, "you can sign it." "Fiorello H. LaGuardia."

Tory Boss in Ottawa Soon For Talks with Pearson

HALIFAX (CP) — Robert Stanfield plans to make his debut in Ottawa next week as national leader of the Progressive Conservative party.

He said Wednesday he will fly to the capital early next week and hopes to meet with Prime Minister Pearson.

"I hope to be able to discuss with the prime minister a possible date for a by-election," Mr. Stanfield said.

Mr. Stanfield has accepted an offer by Cyril Kennedy, PC member of Parliament for Colchester-Hants, to resign so he can contest the riding.

George Isaac Smith, 58, Mr. Stanfield's close friend and political ally, was sworn in Wednesday as Nova Scotia's 17th premier since Confederation. (See also page 5.)

Mr. Stanfield handed in his letter of resignation as premier Tuesday. This and the formal letter of acceptance were officially read by Lieutenant-Governor H. P. MacKenzie before the investiture ceremony.

ment going and not to make changes."

He said he has no intention of suggesting there should be a provincial election because Mr. Stanfield had resigned.

Stanfield Woos Roblin

HALIFAX (CP) — Robert Stanfield telephoned Manitoba Premier Duff Roblin Wednesday and urged him to enter federal politics.

"We are going to meet in the near future to discuss the matter further," the former Nova Scotia premier said.

Fatal Fad

Student Sniffs Chill of Death

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP) — A bizarre experiment, apparently used by high schoolers to "get high," has taken the life of a Medford youth.

An autopsy disclosed Wednesday that Paul McChann, 18, died after breathing the fumes from a cocktail glass chiller.

The teenager was found dead Tuesday night in the living room of his home — a plastic bag pressed to his face and blood streaming from his mouth and nose.

Dr. A. Erin Merkel, the Jackson County medical examiner, said the device, sold under a variety of brand names, releases a cold jet of carbon dioxide which puts a frosty coating on the drinking glass. Some use nitrous oxide, he said.

McChann had used an empty thermos to trigger the chiller and a plastic sack to collect the fumes.

Lift Planned For French

QUEBEC (CP) — A new organization of French teachers dedicated to giving a "face-lift" to French instruction in Quebec was formed during the second biennial conference of the French language.

Officials said l'Association des Professeurs de Français proposes to reform the teaching of French from kindergarten to university across Quebec.

Loss Totals $1,500,000

NEW YORK (AP) — A securities firm has reported the loss of $1,500,000 in U.S. treasury bills, police said Wednesday.

The firm, Hayden Stone Inc., notified police and the FBI Tuesday, police said. Serial numbers and stop orders have been circulated worldwide.

TV Crew Trapped in Anti-Pirate Ploy

If You Wish for Song of Sea...

LONDON (CP) — A salty drama dressed up with touches of Gilbert and Sullivan, freedom of the press, bureaucracy and the Flying Dutchman was being played in the English Channel Wednesday to the delight of much of Britain.

It hinged about the efforts of a valiant crew from Granada Television to board the pirate radio ship Caroline

South in the face of such hardships as the Maritime Broadcasting Offences Act, seasickness and even alcoholism.

The good ship Caroline, off Harwich, is a defiant holdout against the legislation banning unauthorized pop-playing stations and making it an offence to give aid or comfort to their crews. For 24 hours the Granada brigade bobbed around with a view to recording doings on the ship.

When it reached the vessel Tuesday aboard a chartered tug, it got a radio-telephone call from land advising that it could be arrested and the tug impounded if it went aboard.

While Granada's lawyers thumbed the fine print of the law, the crew headed back to Felixstowe in the stout tug Ross Dainty, only to be told it could not put in. The harbor staff had heard of the object of the expedition and feared it might be in trouble for giving haven to a vessel that might have been in touch with Caroline.

The Ross Dainty anchored outside, temporarily a boat without a port. However, that plight was abated somewhat Wednesday when the port manager agreed she could come in.

But late Wednesday, the Ross Dainty was back at the side of the pirate vessel, although her crew were still awaiting word from the lawyers on whether they could go aboard without risking arrest.

The Granada crew was keeping a stiff upper lip. Producer Mike Hodges reported by radio:

"It's blowing up a bit rough now. Mel Davies, who was seasick last night, has recovered. We're out of hard drink — only tea and coffee left — but I expect we can manage for another 24 hours if necessary."

FRANCE MULTIPLIES

Who's For Canada?

QUEBEC (CP) — Manpower Minister Jean Marchand said Wednesday night it is "high time" to find out "who rejects Canada and who accepts it."

"We cannot test indefinitely between consent and refusal," he told Quebec members of the federal Liberal party. "For our part, the choice is made and we are resolved to play on the Canadian team."

Mr. Marchand, addressing the opening session of a Liberal "thinkers' conference" in nearby Montmorency, said the first century of Confederation has included "a great number of injustices" toward French-speaking Canadians, "from the hanging of Louis Riel to the English-speaking domination of the federal civil service."

DANGEROUS GAME

"But," he said, "it is playing an extremely dangerous game to use more or less distant historical events as a basis for proposing more or less radical transformations which have nothing to do with the welfare of citizens and could even compromise it."

The "injustices of yesterday" were being replaced by policies favorable to French-Canadians.

Among the encouraging signs were the decision of Ontario to include French-language secondary schools in its education system; the promise of the federal government to extend French-language radio and television networks across the country; and the statement by Justice Minister Trudeau that it would be desirable to have the right to speak French anywhere in Canada guaranteed by the constitution.

BETTER IN CANADA

Mr. Marchand said Quebec's future is better assured within Canada than it would be by a secessionist adventure, and called for an end to the struggle between the federal and Quebec governments.

"The idea of a struggle between federal and provincial members makes no sense in a federal state, because each level of government works in a fundamentally different jurisdiction."

It was inevitable that there would be clashes, misunderstandings and differences of opinion between the two levels of government, but these should not be aggravated or exploited for partisan purposes.

CHIEFEN PAYS

If this happened, "either the cohesion of Canada will be shattered or the governments will be overcome by paralysis, and in either case the ordinary citizen will pay for the damages."

Turning to the question of a particular status for Quebec within Confederation, the minister said the term must be defined before it can be discussed.

"It cannot be said that the idea of a particular status is unacceptable... but the debate for and against particular status, couched in vague and general terms, leads nowhere."

The conference continues until Sunday, with study sessions closed to press and public.

New Job For Hellyer

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Paul Hellyer is expected to take over the transport portfolio next week, informed sources said Wednesday. Mr. Hellyer and his aides declined comment.

Transport Minister Pickersgl, 62, is resigning from the cabinet to become chief of the new transportation commission.

Informants said Associate Defence Minister Leo Cadieux, 58, may take over the defence portfolio.

QUEBEC GIFTS

QUEBEC (CP) — Education Minister Alain Peyrefitte of France announced Wednesday night that France will multiply its aid to Quebec by 10 times in three years.

Mr. Peyrefitte told a press conference France would multiply by 10 the 1967 amount of French aid given under the Franco-Quebec education and cultural agreements signed in 1965.

He gave a few examples of areas in which France is going to increase its aid, but said he would have to give between 20 and 25 examples to exhaust the exchanges envisaged.

TEACHER RESERVE

Mr. Peyrefitte said the number of scholarships France provides for Quebec students — about 50 this year — will be increased to 1,000 within three years.

France was thinking of creating what he called a reservoir of teachers available to Quebec according to the province's needs.

He also said two Franco-Quebec agreements would be signed.

Life Insurance Firms Pledge Slum Aid

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — The U.S. life insurance industry announced Wednesday it would invest $1,000,000,000 to improve housing and create jobs in Negro ghettos and other slum areas in American cities.

Under the plan, loans will be made through programs in which the federal housing administration insures mortgages in "high-risk (riot-hit) areas" and at relatively low interest rates.

In Himalayan Skirmish

GANGTOK, Sikkim (UPI) —

Heavy artillery and mortar duelling erupted anew between Indian and Chinese troops in a Himalayan mountain pass and a Chinese radio broadcast Wednesday night threatened the use of air power in the border battle.

"None of you will survive an air attack by us," the Chinese warning said.

Networks Face Strike Threat

NEW YORK (UPI) — The threat of a strike by technicians against two major radio and television networks, ABC and NBC, was renewed Wednesday when a union official predicted final management settlement offers would be rejected.

Chinese Grab Mission

HONG KONG (UPI) — China Wednesday confiscated the British diplomatic mission building in Shanghai, charging it had been used as a "base for aggression" against China for more than 100 years.

(A British foreign office spokesman in London said Britain was protesting the takeover of the premises and reserved Britain's right to the property and compensation.)

FIVE JAILED

The Shanghai Radio announcement came as Hong Kong authorities sentenced five Communist reporters, including one from Peking's official New China news agency, to jail terms. The jail terms were meted out in defiance of a Chinese demand the newsmen be released.

The sentencing last month of a group of Communist editors, publishers and printers in face of similar China threats led to the sacking of the British consulate in Peking.

Shanghai Radio broadcast the confiscation of the British mission building and said a large crowd of "revolutionaries" sang the Chinese national anthem as the five-star Chinese flag was raised over the British building.

It said the building, located in

Cobblecloth

BY SAMUELSON

The weaver's skillful hand adds dash to the manly texture of the traditional 'pic-n-pic' worsted. ("Rich, not gaudy" says Mr. Shakespeare!) And the dramatic result is this forthright suit, softly tailored to merit the most flattering critical notice. $120

Expensive imported 100% rayon duvet cover is quilted and laminated to 5" foam, on top and bottom, for maximum soft-surface sleeping comfort.

720 premium steel coils are specially tempered for maximum resilience to provide firm, level support over the entire mattress surface.

24 heavy-gauge steel spring side supports, 12 in mattress and 12 in box spring prevent sagging edges and provide the life of the sleep set.

Fashion-welted edge enhances the tailored appearance... companion box spring is scientifically designed. Extra-heavy-duty coil springs of premium quality steel, combine with the steel side supports to provide correct support and longer life for the mattress... finest white felt padding and full-width insulation are used throughout. Your choice of 39", 48" or 54" widths.

you discomfort!

Sudden blasting noises can bring head-splitting discomfort! Especially if your hearing aid doesn't shut them out quickly.

Our Zenith Moderator eliminates such painful noise by limiting sounds to a comfortable level. And it gives you this protection automatically. You don't miss a word. Ask us for a free demonstration. We think we can save you some discomfort.
